The Inundation in France.

Great Loss of Life.

American Riflemen Banqueted by Irish Masons.

Additional Particulars of the Recent Earthquake in South America.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Movements of the Riflemen.

DUBLIN, June 25.—The Irish and American teams shot for practice at Dollymount yesterday. The shooting was very fine, and it would be difficult to say which team did the best, so nearly equal was the skill displayed on both sides. The Grand Lodge of Masons of Ireland gave a banquet to the visiting marksmen belonging to the Masonic Order. The assemblage was large and brilliant. Among the guests were gentlemen representing Nova Scotia, Portugal, Canada, New York, Virginia and Illinois. Complimentary toasts were drunk with great enthusiasm. Messrs. Bodine and Fulton responded for the American team. The latter said that the warmth of their reception was beyond their highest anticipations. Every act and look of their Irish friends showed that they loved America. The bond of friendship between Irishmen and Americans was stronger than that between any other two people.

DUBLIN, June 25.—The Irish and American teams practiced at Dollymount to-day. The scoring of the Americans was remarkably fine, the total points made being sixteen above the victorious score last year at Creedmoor. The following is to-day's score for the Americans: Fulton, 170; Dakin, 161; Gildersleeve, 159; Coleman, 158; Bodine, 156; Yale, 146. Total 950, out of a possible score of 1,080. The practice of the Irish team was much inferior in result. The members of the teams, accompanied by the Lord Mayor, to-night attended a performance at the Royal Irish Academy of Music.

Royal Residence in Ireland.

LONDON, June 25.—In the House of Commons to-day, Stocpoole moved that it would conduce to the advantage of the crown if the Queen should have a permanent residence in Ireland.

McCarthy Downing, member of Cork, protested against the motion.

Sullivan, member of Louth, said the motion was inconsistent with the dignity of the crown and the Irish nation.

Dr. Isaac Butt, member of Limerick City, gave assurance that Her Majesty would meet with a loyal reception in Ireland.

Disraeli asked that the motion be withdrawn. The act it contemplated was one which should be left wholly to the free will of Her Majesty.

Stocpoole accordingly withdrew the motion.

FRANCE.

The Inundation.

PARIS, June 25.—The damage to property and the loss of life by the flood in the river Garonne are greater than previous reports have indicated. At Toulouse alone the bodies of one hundred persons who were drowned were found in houses which were flooded but left standing. Many other people perished and their bodies were carried off in houses that were swept away.

PARIS, June 25.—The loss of life by the flood at Toulouse is appalling. In the St. Cyprien quarter two hundred and fifteen corpses have already been found. The violence of the torrent frustrated efforts to rescue the unfortunate inmates of the houses. Several men were drowned in the attempt. Twenty thousand persons are deprived of the means of subsistence in Toulouse alone. The disasters elsewhere are almost of equal magnitude. The lower part of the city of Morssac, on the Tarn, is under water. At Tremouillet, in the Department of the Arriege, five houses only remain standing out of four hundred. In the district of Foix, in the same department, two villages are completely submerged, and many dead bodies found. The crops of all kinds throughout the inundated districts have been destroyed. President MacMahon and Minister Buffet have left Paris for the scene of destruction.

PARIS, June 24—Midnight.—Gen. de Cissey, Minister of War, accompanied the President and the Minister of the Interior to the scene of the inundations.

The municipal council of Paris has voted $20,000 for the relief of the sufferers. Eighty persons were drowned in Verdun. Eight hundred houses have fallen in Toulouse. At Bordeaux the Garonne is much swollen, but no serious catastrophe is reported. It is said that altogether over 1,000 lives have been lost.

Celebrating a General's Death.

VERSAILLES, June 25.—A banquet was given yesterday to celebrate the death of General Hoche. Gambetta made the principal speech. He said that Republicans, forgetting old hostilities, joined hands with their former opponents as friends whom they previously misunderstood. They desired the dissolution of the Assembly in the interests of continued progress. The Republicans had abandoned none of their principles. They must advance step by step, aiming at the realization of the principles of the Revolution.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Additional Particulars of the Recent Earthquake.

NEW YORK, June 25.—A letter from Maracaibo, of May 29th, gives an account of the earthquake at Circuita on the 18th. The first shock leveled every wall in the city, burying, in a single instant, 8,000 people out of a population of 10,000. Several not killed subsequently died from injuries, and many were murdered by robbers who plundered in bands. The shocks continued and the fires burned much property. Those saved fled to the neighboring country and encamped. When the news reached Maracaibo two steamers were sent with food and clothing to the sufferers by the American Consul and the people, also a corps of physicians and a committee to disburse aid. The Governor sent soldiers to protect the people.

Reports from San Cayetono, Santiago, Gramolati, Arbodita, Cucutella and San Cristabel, all aggregating a population of 20,000, confirm the previous accounts of the destruction of life and property in those places. The shock was felt at Bogota and other places, and in Maracaibo there have been light quakes every day since.

GERMANY.

Count von Arnim.

BERLIN, June 25.—In the Kammergericht, before which the appeal of Count von Arnim was heard, the opinion was to-day rendered that the original removal of the documents from Paris was not punishable, but the offense consisted in the subsequent retention and removal of the papers to Carlsbad.

It is said that Count von Arnim will appeal from the decision of the Kammergericht in his case to the Supreme tribunal.

Banquet to American Naval Officers.

Admiral Werner, of the German navy, gave a banquet yesterday at Kiel in honor of Admiral Worden and the officers of the United States squadron. This evening the Americans were the guests of Admiral Henk at a dinner, which was followed by a grand ball given by the officers of the German navy. Davis, the Minister of the United States, was present.

BURMAH.

The Treaty With Great Britain Signed.

LONDON, June 25.—Dispatches from India announce that the seal of the King of Burmah has been affixed to the treaty with Great Britain. A British mission to the King, with Sir Douglas Forsyth at its head, was to set out from Mandalay to-day for Burmah.

The Famine.

Many deaths from the famine are reported in the Karen county.

SPAIN.

A Carlist Fortress Surrendered.

MADRID, June 25.—It is officially announced that the important Carlist fortress of Miravet, on the river Ebro, after a siege of several days, was surrendered unconditionally to Gen. Campos.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 25, 1875.

Liability of Postmasters.

Judge Spence, Assistant Attorney for the Postoffice Department, has furnished an opinion to the Postmaster General taking the ground that Postmasters are liable on their bond for the losses of Government property while in their possession. The occasion of the decision was the loss of a registered package containing $200 worth of stamps in transit through the Boston Postoffice. It is the first time that an opinion had been given holding postmasters responsible on their bonds for the loss of Government property passing through the postoffice.

Inspection of Indian Supplies.

The Board of Indian Commissioners have requested that officers of the army be detailed to inspect the Indian supplies at Kansas City, Missouri, Sioux City, Iowa, and Cheyenne. The Secretary of War has directed Lieutenant General Sheridan, commanding the Department of Missouri, to detail officers to make the inspections.

THE BROOKLYN SCANDAL.

Waiting for the Verdict.

The Jury Still Out.

The Court Again Adjourned.

A Sensation in Plymouth Church.

Beecher's First Reference to the Trial.

NEW YORK, June 25, 1875.

12 M.—The jury in the Beecher case is still out. The Judge refuses to send for them. A great number of people were congregated in and around the Brooklyn City Court room from an early hour this morning. The corridors were thronged with parties anxious to gain admittance to the Court room, but the police stationed at the doors only admitted those having a right to enter. At ten o'clock, the hour appointed for the opening of Court, the room was filled. Mrs. Beecher came in with ex-Judge Porter and resumed her usual place in front of the Plymouth throng. Mr. Shearman bustled in and out of the room, while Tilton sat in the ante-room leading to the Judge's chamber, in conversation with some of his friends. Among those present were Mr. Bullard, brother of Mrs. Beecher, Beecher's sons, and nephew, and a good collection of the Plymouth adherents. When Mr. Evarts entered the room he was received with a demonstration of applause, which was, with difficulty, checked by the Court officials.

Judge Neilson was in his private room from an early hour, where he awaited a communication from the jury. The time was spent by the audience in reading the morning papers and discussing the situation.

Betting on the Result.

It is the prevailing belief that a disagreement of the jury is inevitable, and bets are freely offered on that result.

The jury sent down to-day for Mrs. Moulton's testimony, which the Judge forwarded to them.

The Jury Room.

The jury were confined in an upper side room of the court house looking out on the park, and in front of which were gathered probably about five hundred people. The windows of the room were open and the jurymen gazed at the crowd with evident interest, and do not seem as if they enjoyed the situation. Mr. Carpenter at one period read to some of the jurymen from a pamphlet which he held in his hands, but others of them paid or appeared to pay not the slightest attention.

At 12:15 P. M. the Court adjourned for an hour for lunch, and the crowd dispersed.

How the Jurymen Spend Their Time.

A visit was made by some reporters to the Polytechnic Institution, whose windows look into the jury room, and the jurors could be seen in all positions, fanning themselves. They were all suffering from heat, and they sat with their coats, and in some instances with their vests off. Foreman Carpenter tilted himself back on the hind legs of a chair, with his feet resting on the window ledge, and was talking in an earnest manner to his companions. Frequently they would gather in groups and discuss some point, and when the heat of discussion was over would separate and stroll up and down.

4 P. M.—Nothing has been heard from the jury. A rumor was started that the jury stood seven for Beecher to five for Tilton, but cannot be traced to an authentic source.

At ten o'clock Judge Neilson adjourned the Court till eleven o'clock to-morrow, and the jury were locked up for the night.

A Sensation in Plymouth Church.

At the Plymouth church prayer meeting to-night, Rev. H. W. Beecher created a sensation by referring to the trial for the first time since it went into the Courts. He said that he would still continue to act as pastor of Plymouth church, because he felt that no matter what the verdict of the jury in this case might be, his congregation would still have faith in and stand by him.

THE GALLOWS.

Two Men Hanged in Maine—One of the Criminals Attempts to Commit Suicide, and is Brought to the Gallows in an Unconscious Condition.

THOMASTON, ME., June 25.—Wagner and Gordon, condemned to be hanged today, kept up a bold front until this morning, when Wagner appeared much excited. He has hitherto believed in the saving power of a charm which he wore next to his heart, but at last, realizing its unimportance, he broke down. Both men protested their innocence. Gordon requested that the inscription, "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give ye rest," be placed on his tombstone; also that the hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," be sung at his funeral.

Neither of the men ate any breakfast. At 10:45 the announcement was made that Gordon had attempted suicide by stabbing himself with the blade of a shoe knife. He had been previously searched, and his getting possession of the knife is a mystery. The wound was in the region of the heart, and he was found lying on the floor of his cell by the depty warden, who went to prepare him for the gallows.

At 11:30 the Sheriff and his Deputies entered Wagner's cell and pinioned his arms, and at 11:43 Wagner marched to the gallows, walking resolutely and mounting the scaffold with a firm step. When the rope was adjusted about his neck, his countenance bore a placid expression. Gordon was brought down by four men. He was unconscious, and had been so since he was discovered. After his attempted suicide he was placed in a sitting position upon a box on the drop, and supported by two deputies. His face was as pallid as a corpse. Wagner cast his eyes towards him, and turning to the spectators, said: "Standing here to die, I proclaim my innocence before God."

Gordon made no sign of life save faint moaning. Wagner bade adieu to several prison friends, and said he hoped that at some future day the real truth of his case would come to light.

At 11:49 the spring was touched, and the two bodies were hanging in mid-air. Neither moved a muscle, their necks being broken by the shock. At 12:20 the bodies were cut down and placed in coffins. A strong impression seems to be gaining ground of the possible innocence of Wagner.

A Murderer Executed in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, June 25.—The execution of Jas. Henry Costly took place in the yard of Dedham jail at 9:43 o'clock this morning, the body being cut down at 10:16. The murderer bore himself with much coolness. He ate as hearty a breakfast as usual, having slept soundly during the night. At nine o'clock Rev. Wm. H. Brooks, Episcopalian, held private religious service with the doomed man, who at 9:40 took his stand upon the drop. He made no statement, merely shaking hands with the executioner. Yesterday he was busily engaged in writing a statement, which has not yet been given to the public, but it is thought to be a full confession.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 25, 1875.

Theological Seminary Commencement.

The annual commencement exercises in the General Theological Seminary of the P. E. Church were held this morning in St. Peter's church, Bishop Potter presiding. Among the clergymen assisting at the exercises were Bishop Neeley, of Main, Cannon Knowles, of Chicago, Rev. Mr. Harmon, of Troy, and others. The sermon to the graduates was delivered by Bishop Neely. At the conclusion of the exercises communion was administered to the graduates, of whom there are fourteen, by Bishop Potter. The graduates will be ordained on Sunday next.

O'Connell Memorial.

The O'Connell Memorial Committee met to-day. It was resolved to accept the site offered in Central Park for a statue of O'Connell, to prepare for laying the corner stone of the pedestal on the 6th of August, the centenary of Irish liberator, and to invite the co-operation of the admirers of O'Connell at home and abroad.

Obituary.

Mortimer Thompson, better known as "Q. K. Philander Doesticks, P. B.," died in this city to-day, after a short illness.

Important Railway Decision.

CHICAGO, June 25.—In the cases of Mathew Bolles, of New York, against the towns of Brimfield and Elmwood, in this State, Judge Blodgett, of the United States Circuit Court in Chicago, held that the bonds issued by these towns in aid of the Dixon, Peoria & Hannibal Railroad are valid. This decision is in direct contravention of the ruling of the Supreme Court of Illinois, and is of great importance to the bondholders.

Terrible Storm in Canada.

BRADFORD, Ont., June 25.—During a heavy gale yesterday, the town hall, a large brick building, was blown down. The public school was in session in the basement at the time, and one pupil was killed, and three seriously injured. Several other buildings were unroofed and blown down. The same storm visited Kingston, damaging the town and shipping in the harbor to some extent.

THE SUMMER RESORTS.

Where Tired Nature is Soothed and Reinvigorated.

Down by the Seashore—Boating, Fishing, Bathing, and the Drive and Promenade—Sports Indoors and Out—Inland Rural Retreats—Where to Live Through the Heated Term.

Newport.

The season has hardly commenced at this the great American watering place, notwithstanding the fact that nearly one-half of the families announced to spend the season here have already made their appearance and are enjoying themselves without making any display. To a great extent Newport is an exclusive wateringplace, so retired and reserved are its leading guests. One does not see here the crowd he naturally expects to see at the beach or up on the fashionable streets, even when the time arrives for the turnouts to be out in all their dazzling array. Its exclusiveness, however, does not prevent those of moderate means from visiting the place and enjoying the beauties of nature and taking a new lease of life, as well as the millionaire who drives his four-in-hand and rusticates in a "cottage" worth $100,000 on Bellevue avenue. Accommodations can be secured at first-class boarding houses at moderate sums, say for eight to fifteen dollars per week, and have nearly all the luxuries which the season affords. The hotel keepers have shown their knowledge of the times by reducing the price of board and of making liberal terms to permanent guests.

Long Branch.

The hotels are beginning to fill up slowly at the Branch. A few warm days, however, will bring the crowd. About all of the principal hotels have the consolation of knowing that nearly all the rooms are engaged from the 3d of July. A week from Saturday will see a big crowd on the seashore and in the surrounding country. The "programme of the races" is out, and the sport promises to surpass anything ever offered to the public.

Atlantic City.

From appearances the fame of Atlantic City needs not be trumpeted. Large additions have been made to her hotel and cottage accommodations since last season, and already the place is alive with its summer population. The 4 P. M. train from Philadelphia on Saturday brought down nearly a thousand passengers, and all of two thousand were landed here during the day. As I walked up Atlantic avenue on Sunday morning, enjoying the clear, delicious, invigorating ocean breeze, the streets presented a July appearance. Many of the hotels are in active operation, some of the lesser boarding places are filling up, the beach at bathing hours is quite animated, the drives are in superb order and already well patronized, and everything is auspicious for a tip-top season. The United States opened on Saturday and registered fifty arrivals, and in a few days I presume the usual summer quota of express and accommodation trains will be running between here and Philadelphia.

Long Branch.

For the space of nearly 40 miles along the Jersey coast, Nature has thrown up a huge breakwater at a distance from the main land varying from one to five miles. It keeps off the surges of the Atlantic, nowhere more rude than here, and shelters a beautiful bay dear to yachtsmen and fishermen. The bay is called Barnegat, and the bulwark of sand receives at different parts of its length the names of Squam Beach, Island Beach, and Long Branch—the latter appellation being applied to the 15 miles extending from Barnegat Inlet to Little Egg Harbor Inlet. The general appearance of these beaches is very much alike. They are from a quarter to a half mile wide, and present to the ocean a range of sand hills of shifting outline, with now and then a few dwarf cedars and a scanty growth of underbrush, while on the bay side there is usually a strip of green salt-meadow. On the main-land shore of the bay the meadows run back for half a mile to a gentle declivity, where you find a fertile strip of country thickly settled, and extending to the dreary Jersey pine desert that everywhere bounds the prospect looking westward. No matter how rough the sea may be outside the beach, the waters of the bay are always smooth enough for the safe evolutions of the smallest sail craft. The pleasures of yachting in smooth water, with the ocean roaring across a narrow strip of land near by, and throwing up its white, threatening hands at the mouth of an inlet which its billows are powerless to enter, are not the only advantages offered to their guests by the Summer resorts on Long Beach. For fishing there is no better place on the coast, and probably a majority of the visitors who come have in mind the excitement of trolling for bluefish as much as the sea air and bathing.

Great Neck.—Long Island.

In lieu of the gossipy and more nervous life of a noizier and more crowded Summer resort, the sojourner at Great Neck, he who has left care, worry and confusion behind him, accepts existence as a comfortable compromise between the green earth and the blue heavens, for on arriving at this part of the country he feels that he has left the lowness and commonplaceness of earth behind, is in a cleaner, sweeter atmosphere, and after a lingering halt, loth to leave, has but to go a step farther to be in Heaven. We own, unblushingly, that this is strong language, but we refuse to weaken it, and leave it to work its way and its will before the eyes of the outside public—a public whose sight is all searching—and who, we know, will exonerate us from any exaggeration and misrepresentation if it will but pack its valise and sally forth to find us. Like Mr. Beach, we have a case before the public, and we use clean and vigorous Saxon in presenting it, meaning exactly what we write. When Nature has made up her mind to spread herself, it doesn't take long for her to make an impression. She is an old lady of wonderfully good taste. In Summer attire she is dressy, but there is nothing "loud" in her appearance. Her splendor is righteous and her trimmings artistic. In beautifying herself, it would seem as if nature had began at the neck; and as woman is known to reserve the rich and rare for encircling her throat, so good Mrs. Nature has strung her gems about the neck—rich ones and rare ones, and at the center she wears a brooch, massive and solid, which we commonplace mortals call Saddle Rock. * * * * *

The minutes of a June morning are all too nimble. They go with a rush that leads into the very quick of one's happiness. They take the short cuts, like children on their way from school, and not the roundabout way of the peddler's wagon. Already the morning has nooned, and it is twelve o'clock and after. It is that disagreeable hour when down-town New York is lunching, and the public kitchens and narrow down-town streets are making the air heavy and unsavory with fool exhalations. The lawyer's clerk, the sweaty office boy, the "devil" and all uncleanness are at large seeking such comfort and nourishment as can be found from the tainted sweet in the eating booths about the lower postoffice. Ugh!

Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Sweet Auburn never looked lovelier than this village now. It is carpeted with green of a brilliant hue, pleasant to the eye, refreshing to the mind. The streets are bordered with the maple and the elm, the most beautiful of shade trees, while in every yard and garden grow in rich profusion the rarest and sweetest flowers. How delightful to inhale the delicious perfume! New feelings are stirred, new hopes spring up, and the heart swells with delight as we contemplate a scene of so much quiet, beauty and loveliness.

"But all that's bright must fade,
The brightest but the fleetest."

So, with the departure of June, the roses will disappear, and the leaves and grass 'neath the scorching rays of a July sun will soon lose their intense green.

The season has been so backward that there have been but few arrivals at the Summer hotels. As a watering place, this has been neglected for a few years past, owing in part to the opening of new resorts and to the hard times, but principally to the want of popularity and proper management on the part of the proprietors; but as a Summer home for families it has no equal.

It is healthy here, and pure air and pure water abound. You can educate your children here, if you have any, cheaply, out of the way of the demoralizing influences of a city. You can live economically here, if your income is small, and still be respectable. For the nervous and debilitated, worn down by the wear and tear and dissipations of a city, it is incomparable for its quiet and freedom from all passion and excitement; and last, it is a good place to die and be buried in. No vain display, no foolish expense, no plumed hearse and bustling, self-important undertakers, no array of empty hacks and prancing horses—but quietly and calmly you are put away by the neighbors in the village church-yard, and there left to rest. To rest! O, soothing words; sweet as the notes of the turtle-dove, calming as the murmuring flow of a woodland stream, they fall upon the ear of the weary and the worn, who, though in the sunset of life, have found it but a continual struggle, unavailing for good, and, saddened and dispirited, can only look for the realization of this precious privilege, to "that last bourne from whence no traveler returns."

The Governor and Council of New Hampshire Censured.

CONCORD, N. H., June 25.—In the House to-day a final vote was taken on the resolutions censuring the Governor and Council in the Senatorial matter. They were adopted by a party vote—174 ayes to 166 nays.

Letter from Wendell Phillips.

The Financial Plank of the Cleveland Platform Approved—The Ranks of Bullionism in Boston Breaking—He Advocates a Third Term for President Grant, Unless a Better Man is Found—The Battle with the South Not Ended—The Measure of His Presidential Candidate: "Loyalty to Impartial Liberty."

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25.—The Indianapolis Sun of to-morrow will contain the following letter from Wendell Phillips to Jas. Buchanan, Esq., of this city:

BOSTON, June 19, 1875.—Dear Sir—The first clause of the Cleveland platform adopted last March has my cordial approval. No words can fully describe the importance of the financial plan it recommends. I am sure it will soon be adopted by the nation, and that it will revolutionize the relations of capital and labor. It will put capital beyond all danger of interference with its rights, and will immeasurably increase the comfort of working men. No single measure of change will do as much as this can for the happiness, virtue and progress of the race, and in my judgment everything tends towards such a system of finance and heralds its speedy adoption. No teacher is so sharp and successful as bankruptcy and the Sheriff. Even here in Boston, the very Gibraltar of bullionism, I can see signs that the ranks are beginning to break, and some few representative men are bending their thoughts and steps to our side. But there is no use of my giving you this expression of my opinion. I have publicly advocated a third term for Grant unless some one can be found as sure as he to rally the whole North, and as true as he has been to claim from the South all the fruits of our victory. He has not by any means done his duty when he claimed or consented to the rejection of the school clause of the Civil Rights bill. He made that indispensable measure almost useless and balked the hopes of the nation. Still, I know no one more to be trusted than he who has any chance to be elected; but your party repudiates him because he is joined to bullionists and stock-mongers. I lament this as much you can. Still, a nation never can attend to but one issue at a time. All history proves this. To-day belongs to the great struggle for equality before the law. The South hates this, and means to defeat it. The North has hidden this grand rule in its heart of hearts. This provoked and justified the war. The battle is over. It is not ended. For this struggle the nation is ripe, ripened by forty years of discussion and five of war. Much as I value your great financial measure, I must in this next Presidential canvass measure my candidate by another standard—loyalty to impartial liberty. Show me a man true to this, and also to financial reform, and with a fair chance of success, and I am his earnest, devoted and single-hearted supporter, everywhere, at all times.

Very respectfully,
(Signed.) WENDELL PHILLIPS.

For the Middle and Eastern States, stationary or higher pressure, southwest to northwest winds, slightly cooler, clear and partly cloudy weather, with possibly occasional light rain in Western Pennsylvania and New York. The rivers will remain nearly stationary.

KANSAS.

The Editorial Excursion Party—Entertainments at Various Places—An Exhibition of the Products of the Country.

DODGE CITY, KS., June 25.—The editorial excursion party left Wichita at 4 o'clock this morning. At Hutchinson the excursionists were given a reception by the citizens, and a breakfast provided in one of the public halls. The hall was elegantly festoooned with wheat, rye, barley, corn and other products of the Arkansas valley. The train arrived at Dodge City at 3:30, and here an elegant dinner was provided for the party by the officers of Ft. Dodge and the citizens of the town. The party will reach Grenada to-night. At every town along the road the citizen have brought to the train specimens of all kinds of grain in the sheaf, and the samples thus exhibited are all remarkably fine. The country presents a beautiful appearance, and the crops of all kind are remarkably fine. At Larned a large collection was tastefully arranged near the depot for the inspection of the excursionists. The farmers are jubilant over their harvest.

CINCINNATI.

Important Meeting of Patrons of Husbandry—Lightning as a Temperance Crusader—A Bonded Distillery Warehouse Struck and Destroyed.

CINCINNATI, June 25.—An important meeting of Patrons of Husbandry, called by the Ohio State Grange, was held here to-day to meet with citizens of that city with regard to the location of the offices of the State Grange. It is understood that the points from which a selection will be made are Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, Louisville and St. Louis, with the probabilities favoring either Cincinnati or St. Louis. No definite result was reached to-day, and the meeting adjourned after appointing committees to consult with the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and the merchants generally.

During a thunder storm, about 4:30 this afternoon, lightning struck the bonded warehouse attached to R. W. Caldwell's distillery. The building and contents were almost wholly destroyed. The loss on stock and building is about $25,000; fully covered by insurance, mostly in local companies.

RIVER DISASTER.

The Belle of Shreveport Sunk Near the Head of Island No. 10, in the Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, June 25.—Captain Shunk, of the steamer Minneola, says when near the head of Island No. 10 he was hailed by Captain Ray, of the steamer Belle of Shreveport, in a yawl, who wanted the Minneola to go to the assistance of the Belle of Shreveport, which was in a sinking condition. [illegible] but so far had, by the aid of syphons, been able to keep the boat afloat. Captain Shunk reported that his boat was too heavily laden to enter the chute, but would send the first boat he met, which proved to be the J. D. Parker, which he met fifteen miles below, and sent her to the relief of the Belle. The Grand Tower is expected to-night with further intelligence from there. The Belle of Shreveport was bound from St. Louis to New Orleans with a valuable cargo.

Lynch Law in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25.—A mob of about one hundred and twenty-five men lynched a colored man named Wm. Keemer at Greenfield, Ind., to-night. He was arrested in Rush county for attempting to outrage a white lady, and was removed from Rushville to Greenfield for fear of violence.

THE LATEST NEWS.

Condensed Telegrams from All Quarters.

—Ex-Lieut. Governor Henry M. Ayams died at New Orleans on Friday, aged 70.

—The Indians have stolen another large lot of horses from a ranche near Lookout, Wy.

—Judge McFadden, delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, died at Olympia on Friday.

—A Jackson (Tenn.) dispatch says half of a business block and a Catholic church were burned on Friday.

—Kinney, who killed his brother-in-law, Esquire Yarborough, near Covington, Tenn., last week, was acquitted.

—Advices from the Red Cloud Agency say the Indians will undoubtedly sign away their hunting right in Wyoming, and probably in Nebraska. Everything is quiet at both agencies.

—A dispatch from San Diego, Cal., reports a rumor of a serious revolution in Sonora. Gen. Davolos, in command on the frontier, is said to be a prisoner in the hands of the revolutionists.

—The body of an aged white man, dressed in plain white cotton clothes, was found floating in the Mississippi river at Memphis on Thursday evening. The body was badly decomposed. Nothing was found to indetify him.

—A tornado passed over Mendota, six miles above St. Paul, Minn., on Friday afternoon, unroofing a dozen buildings, several of which were entirely demolished. A child was blown from its mother's arms, and so badly injured that it will die. No other casualties of consequence are reported.

—Parties from California have purchased the Babcock Silver Smelting Works in Chicago, and will, as soon as possible, commence refining ore brought from the Shasta mines in California. When fully equipped it is expected to turn out ten tons of ore and twenty of fluxing a day. This ore has heretofore been sent to Swansea, Wales.

—The Railroad Commissioners of Missouri have sent a letter to the Railroad Commissioners of Illinois, in which they notify the latter that they have received the acceptance of the Railroad Commissioners of six States to meet in Springfield in Convention on July 20th, to discuss a plan for uniform action against railroads, as far as may be, in the enforcement of the railroad laws of the respective States.

Fatal Shooting Affray in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—J. L. Hicks, an old and well-known citizen of Osceola, Mo., was shot and killed in that town on Wednesday by John E. Cole, City Marshal. Hicks was drunk, disturbing the peace. Cole expostulated with him and tried to quiet him. This only exasperated Hicks, and when Cole attempted to arrest him he struck the Marshal several blows with a hickory stick. Cole then shot him twice, wounding him in the head and arm. Hicks was taken into a store, but a few minutes afterwards broke away from his friends and attacked Cole with a heavy chair, when the latter again shot him twice through the body, killing him. Hicks was a very powerful man, and very desperate when drunk. Cole's action is sustained by the citizens.

THE GIRLS AHEAD.

A Conundrum for the Boys—What are They Going to do About it?

We have not heard any of the girls express exultation over it—they are too tender hearted, we trust for that—but it is an undeniable fact that some of the boys feel chagrined at the way their fair competitors swept up the honors, at the college commencement wherever they had a chance. At two of the Colleges—Allegheny, at Meadville, and our own High School—where there are pupils of both sexes, the girls have come out ahead. At Allegheny the girls just swept the field, so to speak, and at our High School, according to the published programme, the fair sex were similarly successful, carrying off both salutatory and valedictory. Now we sympathize with the boys, and are afraid with them that there is something alarmingly out of order somewhere to bring about such a result. Either there has been gallant favoritism, or the general masculine theory of the mental inferiority of the other side of the house needs revision. As to the first, we would not have the hardihood to say that the grave and reverend seignors who preside over our colleges would allow gallantry to override justice, and this belief is strengthened by the fact that the literary productions of the girls at the commencements were pretty fair evidence that they were worthy of the compliment they received. Yet, on the other hand, how can it be admitted that the female mind is capable of as logical reasoning, and of as earnest study as that of the male. Has not Dr. Clarke, in that elegant brochere of his, "Sex in Education," incontestibly demonstrated to the masculine mind at least the utter impossibility of a woman being as good a student as a man, and that any exception to this rule is a frightful anomaly. And what if the doughty Doctor's wise theory is upset by practical facts like these every once in a while—what matters it if these "anomalies" become so singularly frequent as they have been so recently, must the theory for that reason be revised? We do not propose to attempt an answer to this conundrum; we however respectfully submit it to the boys, and ask them what they are going to do about it.

The Advance of the Season.

The advance of the season compels me to offer my immense stock of spring and summer clothing at ruinous figures. Having manufactured an immense stock of the above goods, and not wishing to carry them over to next season, I will now sell them at half price. As everybody knows, I do not advertise any fictitions, but always live up to what I say, I ask the public to examine my prices and goods, and be convinced that they can save 40 per cent. more than anywhere else. I have also on hand a fair assortment of foreign and domestic piece goods, which I will make to order at the following prices: Suits made to order at $20, price elsewhere $35; suits made to order at $25, price elsewhere $45; suits made to order at $30, price elsewhere $50; pants made to order at $8, elsewhere $12; pants made to order at $10, price elsewhere $15. Fine white vests $1.50 and upwards. I will sell a good railroad suit at $5; traveling suit $8; street suit $7.50; business suit $8.50; fine cassimere pants $3.50. All I ask is for the public to come and look and inspect my stock and prices.

Ladies Wanting

Silver plated Spoons and Forks should go to Drum & Son's if they wish to get a good article cheap. 159 Federal street, Allegheny.

A Candidate's Promise.

A candidate for the Sheriffalty will buy for each and all of the delegates, who will forsake their favorite, one pair of Mr. Martin's manufacture of boots, to be had at 108 Federal street. When we consider the excellent and durable material and the careful and conscientious workmanship of Martin's Boots and Shoes, the offer becomes a liberal one indeed. It is not possible to make a better article of boots and shoes than is made by Martin. Hundreds patronize Martin whom no gilded inducements could ever turn aside from his goods, as they by experience know their worth.

TO THE PUBLIC.
Notice is hereby given to the public and the friends and patrons of Alexander McIlwaine, deceased, that the good will, lease and appurtenances of the auction business, heretofore conducted by said Alexander McIlwaine, has been sold by me to JOHN D. BAILEY, who will on and after July 1st, succeed to all the good will, emoluments and benefits of the said Auction business, which he will conduct as heretofore, at the old stand, No. 106 Smithfield street, as the successor of Alexander McIlwaine.
Mr. Bailey, having purchased for a sum of money, satisfactory to me and friends of my late husband, the good will of the business, I most respectfully and earnestly request the public, who have so long favored my husband with their confidence and patronage, to extend the same to Mr. Bailey and ask the friends of Alexander McIlwaine and of myself to use their influence to render the good will of the business as valuable as possible to Mr. Bailey, in return for the generous manner in which he has acted in the purchase of the business.
AMELIA L. McILWAINE,
Administratrix Estate of Alexander McIlwaine, deceased.
PITTSBURGH, June 23, 1875.
In accordance with the above notice, I hereby notify the friends of the late
ALEXANDER McILWAINE, ESQ.,
The public and my friends that on and after the 1st day of July, I will continue the business of
McILWAINE'S AUCTION HOUSE,
And hope by close attention to business and fidelity to the interests of the patrons of the house, to merit their support, and will endeavor to render the same satisfaction as was given by the late proprietor.
Having secured the services of Mr. SIMEON LOOMIS, who has so long occupied the position of chief clerk of the house, and the other old employes, I am fully prepared to give the same particular attention to sales of stock, real estate, household furniture, books, &c., as heretofore.
JOHN D. BAILEY,
Successor to Alexander McIlwaine.

Have just finished Refitting our Rooms and have just Opened for Inspection the Finest Stock of First-Class Pianos and Organs ever brought to this city at one time, comprising all the above well-known instruments, all of which are known and recognized the world over as unquestionably the best in the market.
We do not deal in Cheap Shoddy Goods, and will not sell them at any price, so that purchasers have the assurance that what they buy is just what it is represented to be.
We will pursue the same policy in the future that has been so successful in the past, i. e., sell only the very best Instruments at the smallest possible profit.
By pursuing this policy our Trade is to-day, according to the sworn returns of the different Music Houses in Pittsburgh, almost one-third more than any other Pittsburgh House, and as far known, the largest of any Piano and Organ House in Pennsylvania.
Please remember this, that the great aim and object of our business life is to please our customers—
1st. By giving them the best possible Instrument for the lowest possible price.
2d. By giving them every accommodation possible, such as very easy monthly or quarterly payments,
ON OUR NEWLY REVISED PAYMENT PLAN,
So that should the purchaser on this Plan
FALL SICK,
Or meet with disaster in his affairs, he will not lose his instrument or what he has paid on it.
Remember, also, that no matter what others may tell you they can do, S. HAMILTON'S HOUSE will do better for you, because they can sell you a better instrument, and they will sell you lower than any other house can afford to sell you. You are cordially invited to call or write to GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 117¼.

THE river Garonne, in France, is doing a vast deal of damage by an unprecedented rise, and this at a time when, usually, it is quiet and even dry. A heavy storm seems to have occasioned the sudden rise, which is a source of severe and permanent damage.

THE charge of Judge Neilson, in the Beecher case, can only be regarded as fair, able, and thoroughly impartial, and pervaded by a spirit which does great credit to the Judge. He has made for himself a noble reputation by this great event of his life.

THE New York World puts it after this fashion: "The Ohio undemocratic platform demands that the Republican legal-tender lie shall be a Democratic shibboleth, that legal-tenders shall be receivable for all possible public dues, and for at least one-half of customs dues."

THE rifle teams in Ireland have indulged in a preliminary contest, which serves to show that the actual match will be closely contested. The shooting was very superior, but there was so little difference between the success of the two parties, that little advantage could be claimed.

RUMOR has it that there are "eleven stubborn men" on the Beecher jury, who favor acquittal, but one honest and firm-minded individual wants to make it "guilty," and so seeks to persuade the recalcitrant eleven of their error. A disagreement is, therefore, among the probabilities.

THE Democrats in North Carolina are revising their State Constitution once more. Just what deviltry they intend to practice has not yet cropped out; but they seem to think that it requires continuous and serious intermeddling with. Thus they amend and change, while they widely praise the sanctity of the old Constitution.

IT is something of a question what Von Arnim is to be imprisoned for. He was charged with the embezzlement of official archives, and of offences against public order. Both charges were declared unsustained, yet the Count is sentenced to nine months' imprisonment! Is this for the crime of being accused with evil?

ATTORNEY GENERAL PIERREPONT seems disposed to make his opinions agree with the law, rather than with the customs of any particular department. He has just decided that the law, relative to duties on imported goods, requires the payment of duties, not at the first port of entry, but at the port of final destination. This will require a change in the rules of the Treasury Department, and will greatly convenience importers.

GOVERNOR TILDEN, of New York, is very strongly charged by the press of that State with seeking to make capital for his administration by vetoes of portions of the Repairs bill, when he really saves the State no money, while he approves the Railroad Classification bill, by which fraudulent directorates can be elected. It is very evident that Tilden is disposed to blatantly proclaim his assumed virtues,—a fact which will yet lead to their passing at a very serious discount.

ALREADY, while the crown of Alfonso rests lightly on his youthful brow, a conspiracy is reported against him. It has been discovered and quelled; but from the characters involved, the Government concluded to employ measures of extraordinary rigor and force. Hidalgo, one of the leaders, was associated with Prim in the revolution of 1868. Under Amadeus, he aspired to high honors, but the sudden abdication of that gentleman ended the schemes of Hidalgo very suddenly. He has again risen to momentary prominence, only to subside into an expatriated convict.

THE French are at last engaged in the practical work of establishing the Republic,—the Assembly is attempting to define the powers of the President. It is a serious task, involving much conflict of opinion, as well as of interest. France has been so long the domain of royalty, and power is so completely centralized, that the liberal powers required in a Republic do not seem to be at all comprehended. How the people can have any functions of a political character, is more than the Assembly seems to realize. The disposition seems to be to confer royal powers on the President,—a fact that will be very distasteful to the French people. If this difficulty is safely gotten over, the Republic may be considered assured.

PRESIDENT GRANT at the seaside is the prolific subject for editorials in Democratic and Independent papers, just now, when legitimate ammunition is rather scarce. The law on the subject is quoted, the best example properly dilated upon, and the evil results mournfully complained of. There are, possibly, unconsidered dangers involved, and yet the Government has gone forward, smoothly and easily, through it all. Just why the President should stay in Washington, except to please Democratic editors, we cannot see. The cool breezes of the sea shore invigorate and give health, and there is no reason for lack of gratitude in this. The affairs of the Government are properly attended to, and no harm comes to it. Everything considered, we judge the chief objection to the President's seaside rambles consist in the fact that he is a Republican.

THE commencement exercises at our High School serve to indicate the ability and efficiency with which that institution is conducted. The exercises were not only varied and interesting, but of high order of merit. From the first, that institution has rapidly progressed in efficiency, but never more rapidly than during the past two years. Much new and valuable material has been added, and the physical sciences are now illustrated by actual experiments of the finest description. Few of the people, even of those whose children are in attendance at the High School, have any adequate idea of the completeness and value of this institution. The time is not far distant when to complete the course of study at the High School will be generally regarded as equivalent to being educated at colleges. It is destined, we think, to rank among the best institutions of its kind in the country.

AN evening cotemporary, referring to the Nation Trust Company case, says that the city was benefited, years ago, by a compromise on its bonds, and suggests that mercy toward our citizens is only a recognition of mercies received. This is true. As we learn it, the course of popular sentiment on this subject is about as follows: It is believed that there were those in the Nation Trust Company who either did, or should have known of the misuse of its funds. They were, it is currently believed, even benefited by those funds. These, could they be ascertained, should be compelled to pay to the uttermost cent. But honest, and small stockholders, who had but little, and held it as honestly as any stock is held, should be allowed to go as freely as possible. No more pressure should be put on them than is absolutely necessary. We believe, were the guilty parties, if there be such, made to pay as largely as may be, popular sentiment would favor the most generous concessions imaginable to the poor and honest stockholders.

MRS. TILTON has put forth a strong declaration, denying that the parties who claim to have been in the house as upholsterers and to have witnessed improprieties between her and Beecher were ever there, or that any upholstering work was being done at the time. She further declares that at no time, or under any circumstances whatever, did she commit any impropriety, with, or was she ever solicited to do so by, Mr. Beecher. Also that she did not leave her husband by Mr. Beecher's invitation, but simply because she could no longer live with him. The affidavit is very strongly made, and will carry weight. As against the foolish and absurd story of the so-called upholsterers, it was not, perhaps, essential that a statement should be made, as their story was incredible, considered by itself. The Herald, with malicious and sensational purpose, published it, but this was all there was in it. Yet, coming, as it does, at the close of the trial, Mrs. Tilton's statement, taken as a whole, will be accepted and believed in. It presents a pitiable view of Tilton's outrageous conduct. A husband who will not merely ask a wife to lie, but to declare falsely that her virtue was assailed, in order that he may use the declaration for revenge or blackmail, is inconceivably contemptible and vicious. Yet this is the attitude Mrs. Tilton's confession puts him in. She has explained her own weakness, which will excite pity, and his viciousness, which will excite contempt and detestation.

OPPORTUNITIES IMPROVED AND WASTED.

The Beecher trial is ended, and the time has come when some of the incidental lessons it affords can be fully considered. Among others, it brings in startling contrast, the results that follow when great opportunities are properly or viciously used. There are many of the characters in this suit who have had rare opportunities for usefulness, prominence, or fortune; and the reasons for success or failure stand clearly out, either in evidence or character, or both. Beecher came to Brooklyn, many years ago, with merely the opportunity to make himself the foremost preacher in Christendom. He had a young society, an undeveloped Church, but a fine field. Others have had better opportunities, so far as the strength and standing of their Church was concerned, who never rose to celebrity. He, by genius, labor, and tact, steadily advanced from the first; but the evidence of the trial shows with how much labor. He did and does, week by week, and year by year, the work of three ordinary men; is oftentimes crowded and pushed by his labors, but by method and care, and proper attention to the laws of health, has prospered and succeeded.

In the early part of his career in Brooklyn the young man Tilton came under his notice. He was a tall, slender, pale-faced, precocious boy, given to poetry, and having the promise of making a graceful, effective writer. He was given a place on the Independent, encouraged, aided, counseled, and helped forward, till at last he held the position of editor. Here was an opportunity such as few young men possess. From it, he has utterly fallen, and will probably never rise from his ruin. The reasons for his fall are not hard to discuss. In place of quietly and modestly performing his duties, keeping himself prepared by reading and study, for any new questions that might arise, he began to imagine that he was the great man of the country, to whom all others,—preachers, editors, business men, politicians, statesmen and even high officials should pay tribute of unreserved adulation. In reality, he was never deserving of the applause he demanded, and from some, received. As a writer he was slow and labored,—his graceful sentences requiring infinite labor and care; in perception he was plodding and dull, being an utter failure on the Brooklyn Union, because of the fact that current events became stale before he could arouse to their consideration. As regards judgment, he was lamentably deficient, plunging his paper into one difficulty after another, many of them occasioning losses of subscribers and patronage. All this, however, did not comprise his worst failure. His moral delinquencies were very grave, and these really led to his downfall. Thus, with a grand opportunity, his vices of mind and soul blasted his career. He now stands in the unenviable light of having sought to destroy the reputation of wife and children, and to ruin his benefactor.

Francis D. Moulton started in his business career, as a smart, sharp, well educated, active young man, was given a place in a strong mercantile house, and went forward with every prospect of an honorable business career. Success depended merely on probity and a proper attention to business affairs. He is now out of his firm, and is understood to be seriously crippled, if not actually ruined, financially, and with it has gained an unenviable notoriety before the general public. His general traits of character led, in part, to this. It was the sharp, tricky, intriguing, double dealing quality of which he was possessed that led to his becoming intermixed with Tilton in the Beecher affair. It is hard to believe that he was not in full collusion with Tilton, having an accurate knowledge of the fact that there was no truth in the charges presented, but urging them for inscrutable reason, involving his personal advantage or feeling. He comes out of the trial a ruined man. His ambition has overleaped itself, and he, with all his opportunities and advantages, comes thus far forward in life, a most wretched failure.

These particular instances, after all, only illustrate general facts and laws. As a rule, men cannot violate every law of right and live lives of hidden hypocrisy and wrong and escape unscathed. On the other hand, where they conform conduct to the higher and better laws which govern, they may be pressed against, but will not always fall. More than this, however, it is true, that life's opportunities must be taken rightly, and used properly if we would succeed. The young, especially, cannot learn too perfectly the lesson, that to succeed they must merit success. However situated, and whatever their advantages, they must be studious, self-constrained, and laborious, if they would succeed. The greatest genius, if allied with senseless and idle egotism, cannot command success. We must fit ourselves by study and labor, to properly grasp at life's opportunities when they come. And calmly and steadily, we must labor when they are upon us.

A Wholesome Bill of Fare for Young Ladies.

The Vassar Female College at Poughkeepsie, New York, has gained considerable reputation throughout the country for the peculiar style of mental and physical training in vogue there. The young ladies are educated more after the heroic style there than at most female institutions. They are said to be an unusually vigorous collection of young misses, and it is claimed that a party of them visiting West Point lately did not scare worth a cent when surrounded by the cadets on a charge. This sturdy and heroic element in their characters may be owing to the diet on which they are fed. The question was once asked, "Upon what meat doth this our Cæsar feed that he is grown so great?" And so we may ask upon what meat do these Vassar girls feed that they have become so famous? The recent commencement exercises at the College gave the newspaper reporters an opportunity of making some inquiry into the manner in which the subsistence department of that institution is conducted. One of them interviewed the steward, and if he correctly reports the answers of that functionary to his questions, it would seem that the dietetic philosophers have no disciples at Poughkeepsie. The four hundred and thirty ladies of the College take their meals at one time in the same dining room. Thirty minutes are allowed for breakfast, forty-five for dinner, and thirty minutes for tea. Three or four courses of the best food are generally served for dinner. The milk and vegetables are all the products of the College farm, milk being used very freely for drinking morning and night, and used also in large quantities in cooking and in bread. Three hundred and fifty quarts of the lacteal fluid are consumed every day. One hundred pounds of fresh butter are sent in from the farm every morning, with occasional consignments of ice cream. At breakfast 150 pounds of beefsteak are eaten, and 250 pounds of roast beef or mutton at dinner. When poultry is served (chicken or turkey) three hundred and eighty pounds are required. The daily consumption of bread is 350 loaves. In cold weather buckwheat is used, and in milder seasons rice and corn and wheaten cakes. Twenty cake-bakers are kept at work when the pupils sit down to breakfast, and so rapid do they work that there is no necessity for the stereotyped cry of "hurry up the cakes!" They give them to fair consumers hot and fast, and they eat on the average 2,000 pancakes at one sitting, to make which cleans out a barrel of batter. They are good pie-eaters also, consuming one hundred and twenty-five or thirty pies at one meal. When they have apple pie, a barrel and a half of apples are used, while for cherry pie two bushels of the fruit are required. Just now it is strawberry time, and every night at tea they eat 180 quarts of strawberries. They are regaled with ice cream twice a week, and at dinner use 160 quarts of that luxury. When oysters are good, a half barrel are used for one meal, and 120 quarts of milk are put with them. They eat 1,260 eggs at breakfast daily. The supply comes from the farms along the line of the Poughkeepsie and Eastern Railroad. Coming to coffee, they use the mere matter of fifty gallon for breakfast, or eight hundred cupfuls, and half a barrel of sugar is consumed daily in various ways. Oatmeal is put upon the table every morning at breakfast, and they consume eighty pounds of it daily. So with cracked wheat, hominy, barley, tapioca, macaroni, &c.

This bill of fare rather throws into the shade the boarding school diet that is known to the experience of most ladies who have gone from home to be educated. We suspect that there is not another school in the country where they can make a showing that equals this one at Vassar. —Wheeling Intelligencer.

NEBRASKA.

The Counties on the Line of the Union Pacific Railroad — The Principal Towns, Their Growth and Prospects.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 10, 1875.

In a previous letter I tried to give a general idea of Nebraska as a State. In this I shall specify the counties that offer, in my judgment, the best inducements to emigrants who want a home in this, the queen of the Western States. To begin with, I should advise no one, for ten years to come, to go far from the line of the Union Pacific Road. This road is one of the best built in the United States, and it is managed quite as much in the interest of the people as in the interest of the Company. It has a vital interest in the development of the country, and what it can do to promote its growth, it does. It furnishes a sure market east and west for all the products of the country through which it passes, and settlers will do well to get lands near it. Therefore, I shall devote this letter to the country on that line alone.

DODGE COUNTY.

Every acre in this county is good. It is well watered, and has the same soil that all of the Platte valley possesses. A fifth of the county is bottom land, and four-fifths is such land as makes a natural and perfect system of drainage. Good water is found by driving wells from 15 to 20 feet. It has now a population of 7,000, which is very rapidly increasing.

Fremont, the county seat, is a splendid town with a population of 3,000, and is growing literally "like a weed." This season, despite the grasshoppers, 150 buildings will be erected, in fact, nearly that number are under way now. It has excellent schools and churches, and as good society as can be found in any eastern town of the same size. The Union Pacific Road has 41,000 acres of land in this county, which range in price from $5 to $10. There are flourishing villages all over the county, and the farmer who settles in Dodge will find all the advantages of markets, society, schools, etc., that he will get on land worth $200 per acre in New York, Ohio, or Pennsylvania. And let me say right here, that all who buy this land are certain to make money if they hold it. Fremont, and all the other villages in the county need more mechanics badly.

COLFAX COUNTY,

precisely like Dodge, in soil and climate, though not so densely populated. The railroad has 75,000 acres of land from $3 to $10 per acre, and the Government has huge quantities which may yet be homesteaded or pre-empted. Schuyler, the county seat, is a nobby little town, growing rapidly. He who takes land in Colfax does well, and the mechanic or business man who settles in Schuyler does well also.

PLATTE COUNTY

is one of the largest in the State and one of the best. There are many farms in Platte which have been tilled 15 years without a failure of crops. The county has splendid roads, excellent bridges, and rich lands. The railroad company has 160,000 acres of land at from $3 to $8 per acre, and Government land is still plenty.

Columbus, the county seat, is a splendid town, and growing very fast. It does the trade north and west for 60 miles. Last year there were sold at Columbus 70 reapers and mowers, 60 wagons, 160 plows, and a vast number of other agricultural implements. The first wheat shipped from Columbus was 12 car loads in 1870. In 1873 there were 1,200 car loads shipped. Two tons of prairie hay can be cut from an acre in Platte county, wheat averages 20 bushels to the acre, corn 60, oats 60, potatoes 400, and prices are always good. Columbus wants carriage and wagon shops, there are none in the county—more tailors, shoemakers, blacksmith, and for that matter all kinds of mechanics; of lawyers and physicians there are quite enough.

Columbus will be in ten years a city of 8,000 people, and real estate is very cheap there. Platte county is one of the best in the State for settlers, and profit is certain for all who come.

MERRICK, HALL, BUFFALO AND HOWARD COUNTIES

are all excellent counties, and the railroad has thousands of acres in them, at from $3 to $6 per acre. Lone Tree, the county seat of Merrick, is a thrifty growing town. Grand Island is an important town in Hall county, which does a very large business. Following we come to

KEARNEY, ADAMS AND HAMILTON,

on the south side of the Platte river, in which lands can be had from $2 to $6, and all good land; and finally to which is the largest organized county in the State, and is a body of splendid farming and grazing land. The valley is superb in grain production, and the rising land is celebrated for its growth of grass as well as grains.

LINCOLN COUNTY,

The country is watered by the forks of the Platte river, 295 miles from Omaha, with an altitude of 2,700 feet. The valley at this point is about five miles wide, the soil sandy loam and very rich. The hill country is covered with rich Buffalo and Bunch grass, on which cattle live the entire winter without any other feed. Large herds of cattle are grazed here and fattened for Chicago and eastern markets. The dairy interest is growing rapidly, and is destined to be great source of wealth to this portion of the State.

A cheese factory, capable of handling the milk of one thousand cows, is completed. Small grains and root crops are more successful than corn, and the crops find a never failing market in the mining regions to the West. Sheep raising is an industry that promises to become very extensive; one firm have a flock of 4,000 head that have been wintered on buffalo grass, and are in fine condition. Smaller lots are usually wintered on hay, as it is less expensive than to keep shepherds to graze them. In addition to the Platte river there are a great number of springs that come to the surface along the valley, all of very fine water. Population of Lincoln county about 3,000. First settlement in 1867. Manufactories—wagons, brooms, cheese. The U. P. R. R. Co. have the most extensive shop at this point that they have on their line, this being the end of the first grand division of that road. North Platte has the finest school building in the State outside of Omaha, and two of the best wagon bridges in the State. The total bonded indebtedness of the county is $30,000, while the assessed valuation of personal property alone is nearly $2,000,000; hence, taxes are light—two and one-half per cent. this year, including State taxes. The settlers are principally Americans, and a very intelligent class of people. There is no better point for making an investment either in lands, cattle, or manufacturing than this, and I should have said something of the topography of the country outside of the valley. The hill mentioned rises from the valley in abrupt sandy ridges, which extend for about one or two miles, when they subside into decorous table lands of rich soil, capable of raising large crops of grain or sustaining large herds of cattle. Timber is scarce in the Platte valley, but found in endless quantities at the head waters of streams lying thirty to forty miles north of us, and in the canons fifteen milessouth.

In these letters I can give only a faint idea of the beauty and richness of this favored State. Those desiring to make either homes or investments in Nebraska, can get full and explicit information by sending a postal card to O. F. Davis, Omaha, Nebraska, who will send, free of charge, a copy of the Pioneer, an illustrated paper, which contains everything that needs to be known, concerning not only the railroad lands, but those of the Government yet unoccupied, with full instructions how to proceed to get all that may be desired. P.

A THIRSTY VERDANT.

Ringing for the Water Boy.

A good story is told of a verdant one who was passenger in a railroad express train, and became thirsty.

"Where's that 'ere boy with the water can?" he queried of his next neighbor.

"He has gone forward to the baggage car, I suppose," was the reply.

"Wall, d'ye s'pose I kin git him back here agin?"

"Certainly," said the other, "you have only to ring for him;" and he nodded towards the bell-line that ran above their heads.

No sooner said than done. Before any one could prevent it Rusticus had seized the line and given it a tremendous tug. The consequences were at once obvious; three shrill whistles were heard, half a dozen brakemen ran to their posts, and the train came to a stand-still with a suddenness that startled half the passengers with astonishment, and caused every man next a window to hoist it and look out to see what was the matter.

In a few minutes the conductor, red and excited, came foaming into the car to know who pulled that bell-rope.

"Here, mister, this way; I'm the man," shouted the offender, drawing all eyes upon him.

"You!" said the conductor, "and what did you do it for?"

"Cos I wanted some water."

"Wanted some water?"

"Sartin; I wanted the water boy, and my pardner here in the seat said I'd better ring for him, as we do at the hotel, an' so I yanked the rope. Will he be along soon? An', by the by, what in thunder be you stoppin' for?"

The shout of laughter that greeted this honest confession was too much for the conductor, and he had to wait till he had got his train under way again before he explained the mysteries of the bell rope to his verdant customer.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTEEN days have been actually employed in the Beecher-Tilton case. It is one hundred and seventy-one days since the trial began. One hundred and eleven witnesses were examined. Counting the opening and closing speeches, more than a solid month was spent in arguments.

BY A DISPLACED THREE YEAR.

Muzzer bought a baby,
'Ittle bitsy sing;
Sink I most could put him
Frou my rubber ring.
An't he awful ugly?
An't he awful pink?
"Just come down from Heaven,"
Zat's a fib, I sink.

Doctor told annozzer
Great big awful lie;
Nose an't out of joint zen,
Zat an't why I cry.
Mamma stays up bed-room—
Guess he makes her sick;
Frow him in 'ze gutter,
If I can right quick.

Cuddle him, and love him!
Call him "Bressed sing!"
Don't care if my kite an't
Got a bit of string!
Send me off wiz Biddy
Every single day.
"Be a good boy, Charley;
Run away and play."

"Sink I ought to love him!
No, I won't; so sere!
Nassy crying Baby,
Not got any hair,
Got all my nice kisses,
Got my place in bed;
Mean to take my drum stick,
And crack him on ze head!"

HUMOROUS.

A MOTHER-IN-LAW has sent a communication to a Milwaukee magazine, denouncing "the vile rabble of coarse, low-bred journalists," who make paragraphs about men's wives' mothers. We'll bet that woman keeps her son-in-law within the traces. Perhaps she even stood over the poor devil, and made him write her communication for her.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE little boys down in Maine begin to write letters early. Here is one that a little fellow in Auburn wrote to his brother the other day: "Eat your bred and butter up Jony. don't eat half of it up and leav the other all torne and bitten or the crust at the sides of your plate. then the highard girl will have to throw them away. yu wold wast the nice bred that pa bys for us and brijet makes."

A LADY lately went to pay her respects to one of the latest arrivals on the list of babyhood, when the following colloquy took place between her and the little 4-year-old sister of the new comer: "I've come for that baby now," said the lady. "You can't have it," was the reply. "But I must; I came over on purpose," urged the visitor. "We can't spare it at all," persisted the child, "but I'll get a piece of paper and you can cut a pattern."

A WOMAN entered a crowded street-car the other day, and for a moment or two no one offered her a seat. Then a fat man, afflicted with the asthma, beckoned to her and said: "Madam, please take—take—" (cough, cough.) She stood there waiting for his seat, and as soon as he was over his coughing fit he concluded: "Madam, please take care and not step on my sore foot!" The look she gave him was appalling, but all the rest saw the joke.—Detroit Free Press.

The undersigned, Assignee in Bankruptcy of George H. Anderson, will offer at Public Auction, at the Custom House, in the City of Pittsburgh, Pa., on TUESDAY, JULY 13th, 1875, at 2 O'CLOCK, P. M., all the right, title and interest, subject to liens, of said George H. Anderson, before and at the time of said proceedings in bankruptcy, in the following coal lands and coal right, viz:

The undivided third, in fee simple, of a tract of land situate in Monongahela county, West Virginia, abutting on the Monongahela River, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a sugar tree on the bank of said river, thence along the same north 73½ degrees east, 52.48 perches; north 68 degrees east, 53.00 perches; north 60 degrees east, 24.46 perches; north 49¾ degrees east, 19.76 perches; north 31½ degrees east, 27.72 perches; north 13½ degrees east, 27.44 perches; north 45 degrees east, 14.80 perches; thence, leaving said river, south 81¼ degrees east, 78.68 perches; north 18¾ degrees east, 12.75 perches; south 84 degrees 25 minutes east, 275.50 perches; thence south 21 degrees 47 minutes west, 15.84 perches; south 56 minutes 54 seconds east, 131.12 perches; south 21½ degrees west, 4.44 perches; south 2 degrees west, 15.80 perches; south 38 degrees 06 minutes west, 31.52 perches; south 18 degrees 51 minutes west, 138.000 perches; south 86 degrees 48 minutes west, 72.00 perches; south 78 minutes 54 seconds west, 40.76 perches; south 87 minutes 40 seconds west, 27.38 perches; south 87 degrees west, 33.00 perches; south 85½ degrees west, 86.68 perches; thence north 6 minutes 57 seconds east, 73.60 perches; north 68 minutes west, 47.00 perches; thence north 68 degrees east, 77.56 perches; north 69 minutes 18 seconds west, 85 82 perches; thence south 57 minutes 57 seconds west, 111 76 perches; thence 3 degrees east, 73.68 perches; thence south 87½ degrees east, 56.00 perches; thence south 50 degrees west, 73.00 perches; south 59 degrees west, 32.36 perches; thence north 65 degrees west, 57.38 perches; thence north 18 minutes 23 seconds east, 43.88 perches; north 1 minute 55 seconds south, 31.80 perches; thence north 79 minutes 40 seconds east, 21.64 perches; thence north ½ degree east, 13.20 perches; north 13¾ degrees west, 25.80 perches; north 35 minutes 50 seconds west, 18.40 perches; north 4 minutes 40 seconds west, 19.16 perches; north 12¾ degrees west, 10.96 perches; north 1¼ degrees west, 12.88 perches; north 50 degrees, west, 28.72 perches, to the place of beginning; containing 821 acres 151 perches.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 26, 1875.

There is a feeling of quiet at the banks these scorching days, that borders on the profound. There is a fair degree of counter business, enough to keep officials and clerks busy enough for comfort, and but little more. No large operations of any kind, and nothing exciting is anticipated till dividend day shall come and go. In other departments we have only to report similarly with a few days since. In three weeks, ending June 19th, the total exports of specie from New York were $15,329,015, the largest amount ever sent out in the same length of time. The total exports of specie from New York alone in the fiscal year ending June 30 will be just about $85,000,000, against $56,655,281 last year. The total exports of specie from all the ports of the United States in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874, are shown by the reports of the National Bureau of Statistics to have been $66,630,405. From this is to be deducted $28,454,906 of specie imported, thus leaving the total net exports last year $37,175,499.

The official reports of the imports and exports of specie for the current fiscal year have been brought down only to the end of March, but we have those of the exports from New York up to the close of the last week upon which to base an estimate for the whole United States, that will be approximately correct. The total export of specie and bullion from the Pacific ports to foreign countries in the year to June 30, 1874, was $9,044,405. The total exports from those ports this year, however, will not exceed $6,000,000. Thus we have a total estimated export of specie from all the ports of the United States in the fiscal year to June 30, 1875, of $91,000,000. The total import of specie and bullion in the nine months ending March 31 was $15,000,000, and for the year will be just about $18,000,000. The total net exports of specie and bullion in the year to June 31, 1875, will therefore be just about $73,000,000, against $37,175,499 last year. The following table will show the differences:

EXPORTS OF SPECIE.

Year to June 30, 1874	$66,630,405
Deduct imports	28,454,906
Net exports	$37,175,499
Year to June 30, 1875 (estimated)	$91,000,000
Deduct imports	18,000,000
Estimated net exports	$73,000,000
Increase over last year	$35,824,501

NEW YORK, June 25, 1875.

Money was more active at 3a4; prime mercantile paper 3½a5. Sterling was quiet at 486½a486¾ for sixty day and 489½a490 for sight. The customs receipts were $238,000. The dry goods imports for the week were $1,248,274. Gold opened and closed at 117¼, with sales in the interim at 117⅜. The borrowing rates were flat, 2, 6, and 1-64. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $393,000. The clearings were $30,000,000. The specie engagements for tomorrow are $1,465,000. Governments are firm. Railroad mortgages are strong. State securities are quiet.

The stock market opened quiet, and the changes, except in a few cases, were very slight. The leading features were Pacific Mail, Lake Shore and Erie. The first named fell off from 39 to 38, but later recovered most of the decline. Lake Shore rose to 61⅛, and afterward touched 60⅞, with a rally still later to 60⅞. Erie advanced from 13⅞ to 15⅞, reacted to 14⅜, and rallied to 15. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western reached to 121¾, New Jersey Central to 111, and Pittsburgh 91½. The changes in the remainder of the list were very slight. At the second call the market was quiet and firm. During the last hour of business stocks were strong and advanced, closing at the highest figure of the day in some cases. There was a strong buying movement in Pacific Mail, which carried the stock up to 39½. Lake Shore advanced from 60⅞ to 61, Western Union from 74½ to 74⅝, Union Pacific from 73 to 73½, and Erie from 14⅞ to 15⅛.

The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 154,000 shares, of which 40,000 were Pacific Mail, 10,000 Northwest, 24,000 Erie, and 43,000 Lake Shore.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Were inactive and very dull. For timothy there was a light inquiry at about former prices, but the other descriptions were not wanted, and there being numerous small lots offered a weak and unsettled feeling prevailed. Quotable at about $2,40@2,50 for good to prime timothy, and $6,50 was bid for prime medium clover. Flax remains nominal at $1,60@1.65 for good crushing. Hungarian was offered freely by receivers who were willing to accept lower prices, but there was an entire absence of demand, and no sales of any consequence were made; quotable at $1@1,25, according to quality. Millet under light offerings remains quiet but steady; quotable at $1,75@2 for good to prime.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, June 25, 1875.

Trade was exceedingly dull to-day, in consequence partially of the excessive heat, although, at best, it has been nothing to brag about recently; our merchants nearly all complained of dullness, and the principal business thoroughfares presented a deserted appearance. In addition to the hot weather, the unsettled condition of values has had considerable to do with the prevailing depression; operators in all branches of business, in consequence, are carrying no more stock than they can possibly help, buying only for immediate necessities, and this hand-to-mouth policy will no doubt be closely adhered to until the leading markets become more settled.

APPLES—Sales of Green apples reported at $3@5 ℔ bbl, as to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—Continues very quiet, and will soon be out of season; 50@55c ℔ gal.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged; $1,90@2 for prime navy, and $1,80@1,90 for mediums.

BUTTER—The market continues exceedingly dull, and we reduce our quotations to 12@15 for prime to choice solid packed. The inquiry, in consequence of the hot weather, has fallen off largely within the past few days, and holders are anxious to sell, as there is no inducement for them to hold.

CHEESE—With an increased demand and diminished receipts, the market is considerably firmer, and we advance our quotations to 11@11½ for prime Ohio Factory, in a jobbing way. It is not likely, however, that there will be any further advance for the present, at least it is not expected.

DRIED FRUIT—The market continues quiet, but unchanged. Apples, 7½@8½c; Peaches, (halves) 10@10½; Blackberries dull at 9 to 10c.

EGGS—The market continues quiet, and notwithstanding the arrivals recently have been only fair, the supply is in excess of the demand; quotable at 18@19—but few sellers as yet for good brands under 19.

FLOUR—The market continues very dull, and prices are weak but unchanged, as follows: Spring wheat flours, $5,75@6,25, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; winters, $6,25 to $6,50 for red, and $6,75@7 for amber and white. Rye flour, $5,75@6.00.

GROCERIES—Our merchants continue to report trade very quiet, as it always is at this particular time, and the markets for the leading staples present no new or important features deserving special notice. Coffee and Sugars are still reported firm but quiet. Molasses and Syrups dull, but in light stock, and prices are fully maintained.

GRAIN—The grain markets continue dull, and considerably demoralized, and notwithstanding the receipts have been light for some weeks, and stocks must, of necessity, be considerably reduced, the supply appears to be inexcess of present requirements, and prices are weak and drooping. Penna. and Ohio Wheat is quoted nominally at $1.25 to 1,28 for red, and 3 to 5 cts. additional for amber and white. The Oat market continues very dull, and prices are weak and drooping; mixed quoted at 62 to 63, and white at 64 to 65. Ear Corn although the supply is small, is dull at 73 to 75 on track. Shelled Corn free in elevator, 75 to 77, according to quality. There is little or nothing doing in Rye.

HAY—The market for baled continues quiet and unchanged, selling on track at $22 to $23 for fair to prime.

POTATOES—The receipts are increasing slightly, but as yet the supply has not have been more than equal to supply the demand, and prices are still maintained; selling from store at $1,00 to $1,10 per bushel, the outside figure for prime Peach Blows. New Pottaoes, $550 to 650 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Our dispatches both from Cincinnati and Chicago, yesterday, were of a favorable tenor, and there was a better and more hopeful feeling in our markets to-day; it begins to look as if the bottom had been reached and a reaction was near at hand. However it is not reasonable to expect any very decided advance in prices.

PITTSBURGH IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, June, 25 1875.

PIG IRON.

Business has been comparatively quiet this week, and as orders for the product are slacking off, the demand for the raw article is not so active, and while there has been no change in prices the general tone of the market is not as firm as it was a week ago. If the mills had continued to buy as they did sellers would no doubt have been able to put prices, as the supply of good mill iron is not large, but the outlook at the present writing is not, apparently, as favorable, in this respect as it was at the date of our last report. A number of the mills, some in consequence of the hot weather others for lack of business, have changed from double to single turn, and furthermore, a number of them will shut down early next month, as is customary in July, to take stock and make repairs, and consequently the demand for immediate consumption, is likely to be light for some weeks to come. Commission merchants, however report that there would be no difficulty in placing considerable quantities, for late summer and fall delivery at current rates, but producers are refusing to contracts ahead except at an advance. There is but little doing in foundry irons. Following sales were reported.

MANUFACTURED IRON.

Trade is dropping off, as it nearly always does at this particular time, and, as already stated, some of the mills have changed from double to single turn; and furthermore, it is probable there will be a pretty general suspension during the first half of July to take stock and make repairs. However, the complaint is not so much in regard to a scarcity of orders as it is in regard to prices, which, it is claimed, yield little or no margin for profit, and it is evident that prices must, sooner or later be advanced, or the cost of manufacture reduced. Quotations for merchant bars may be given at 2,15@2,30, Pittsburgh list, and $2,25@2,40, eastern classification.

NAILS.

The Nail trade continues to slack off, as it nearly always does at this season of the year; some factories have been stopped, others have curtailed their production, and a general suspension within the next week or so is probable. Prices remain unchanged; $3, 60 days, with the usual discount of 2 ℔ cent. for cash.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

A cable dispatch to the Iron Age, under date of the 23d, says:—Scotch Pig.—Prices have fluctuated in both directions since last report, but the market is now drooping, and there is but little business doing. The following are makers' quotations:

Gartsherrie No. 1	68s
Coltness No. 1	67s 6d
Glengarnock No. 1	68s 6d
Eglinton No. 1	61s

No change to note in Manufactured Iron or Rails.

NEW YORK.

American Pig.—About half the furnaces in the Lehigh region are now in blast, and the demand is not sufficient to absorb their production, which is accumulating. While some of the old and strong companies are able to adhere firmly to $28 and $25 for Nos. 1 and 2 Foundry, good iron can be bought from second hands and from other companies at a material concession. The business done is in a small way, and we hear of no sales of moment. We quote No. 1 Foundry, $27@28; No. 2 Foundry, $25@26; Gray Forge, $23@25.—Iron Age.

PHILADELPHIA.

The resumption of work in the coal regions has produced a somewhat firmer feeling in the iron market, without, however, materially affecting either prices or transactions. Furnace owners whose stacks are out of blast contend that either an advance in price of Pig Metal, or lower prices for Coal, must be had before they can afford to increase production. Those who are in blast contend that prices are too low to admit of any margin, while mill owners and consumers of Manufactured Irons persists that, at rates current for their products, prices of Pig Metal are too high. Such is the situation of the market, and with the usual July stoppage of mills near at hand, there is no reason to expect any material improvement in trade within the next 30 days. Among the sales are 1,000 tons No. 2 Foundry at $27; 500 tons Gray Forge at $24 50, and several private lots; 2,000 tons No. 1 extra Lehigh iron, equal to $27 50 here; 1,000 tons No. 2 ditto, equal to $26 50 here; 2,000 tons Gray Forge Pipe Irons at $23 50 delivered; 500 tons Gray Forge, $23; an order for 5,000 tons Rails; 3,500 tons ditto 56's and 45's, at $49, at mill; 1,000 tons Old Rails, equal to $26 50 New York; 2,000 ditto, Western, $29; 500 tons Muck Bar, on private terms; some large lots of Pipe Irons, and a specification closed or closing for 7,500 tons Pipes for account of a Canadian city.

The Weather and Crops.

The hot weather made grain weak early, irrespective of the news from other points, as it was undoubtedly of a forcing character, especially after the rain. The weather of the past month has been of a very tantalizing character, being too cool and too moist to satisfy many of those whose views of the eternal fitness of things are based upon a narrow experience and limited judgment. Hence prices have been very uncertain, wavering down and up, according as hope or fear temporarily prevailed. The feeling was equally unsettled yesterday, though tending a little more decidedly in the direction of zero, though the storm of the preceding night was not exactly beneficial to the farmer. It was hoped, however, that that storm marked a weather epoch from which would date brighter skies and less rain. The weather of the past was favorable to a luxuriant growth, provided that it be followed by weather of a different sort that will fix the moisture into organic compounds, and mature them into the "full corn in the ear." A little heat would bring out a good crop of oats, and more of it would result in one of the best crops of corn ever gathered in the United States. The yield of wheat is not expected to be very large, as a considerable breadth of wheat land was replanted with corn late in the Spring.—Chicago Tribune.

Chicago Lumber Market.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The cargo market was dull and weak. The offerings were liberal, and eight or nine cargoes were sold during the day, but local dealers, who were the principal buyers, generally refused to purchase unless they could get the stuff at their own price. Stale cargoes sold at considerably lower figures than those asked when the vessels first arrived. Buyers reluctantly paid $8 for Manistee piece stuff, and other grades were quoted at $7,75@7,82½. The fact that the offerings were very light probably sustained prices for this grade of lumber. Board and strips were weak under liberal offerings, though one dealer had no difficulty in getting his usual price, but the lumber was well known and desirable. Most of the sales were on private terms, but the mystery in connection with boards and strips was partly explained by the remark that there were no established prices. About 15 cargoes were left over. Joists and scantling were quoted at $7,75@8; boards and strips at $8.50@10 for common to fair, and $10.50@14 for medium to choice. Lath sold at $1,50, and pickets at $7,00. Shingles were quoted at $2,20@2,40, and extra brands at $2,65@2,70.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, June 25, 1875.

The Crude market was dull and considerable demoralized to-day, and prices have still further declined; immediate shipment was quoted at $1,25 to $1,27½. A Titusville paper, of yesterday, alluding to the break, down says: The growing lack of confidence in the future of the crude petroleum markets of the region, together with the widespread feeling of depression, the enormous stock on hand, and the scarcity of money, caused another decline yesterday of about 5 cents. The prevailing opinion appears to be fast gaining ground, both among producers and speculators, that the production is too large and increasing, and that the inevitable consequences must be a lively competition among holders to realize at the earliest practicable moment and a depreciation in values. The home and foreign demand thus far failed to decrease on piathonic stocks, and the outlook is anything but encouraging for any better prices so long as the drill continues to flood the market. The production increases, and stocks continue to accumulate. Refined is also dull and drooping; quotable at 9½@9¾ delivered on Connellsville cars.

The Barrel trade continues dull and unchanged; Sales of countries at $1,10@1,15; city make quotable at $1,28@1,30.

GEO. H. ROHE,
Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 2 feet 10 inches, and stationary, a rise of two or three inches during the 24 hours ending at that time. Cloudy and hot, with indications favorable for rain.

THE John L. Rhoads was advertised to leave St. Louis for this port to-day.

THE steamer Exchange arrived at Wheeling on Thursday morning about 11 o'clock. In backing out from the wharf she struck on a bar on the opposite side of the river, and did not get off for about two hours. She left for Cincinnati at 1 o'clock.

THE Government survey boat, Frank Willard, arrived yesterday afternoon, in charge of Lieutenant Rockwell. She will start back to-day. Lieut. Rockwell will pay off the light-house keepers on his way down, and make an investigation to ascertain if the light houses are properly located. We understand that he would like to have an expression of our steamboat and coal men in regard to the matter, whether or no they consider these lights of any benefit to navigation.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, under date of Wednesday, says:—Business is moderately active. The Tom Means is loading one of her barges with ore. There is nothing else at the pile. The H. C. Yaeger received some freight to-day, and leaves for New Orleans to-morrow, to be followed by the Commonwealth on Saturday. The snagboat John N. Macomb left for the Missouri this evening, where she will remain working at the snags till fall. The Leopard brought up from Cairo another tow of her barges, and left for the balance.

IN January, 1873, a watchman on the Legal Tender named Shoffner, also a sailor on the same boat, were injured while the boat lay aground near Indian Bay, White River. The Augusta was at work pulling the Tender off, when the lines sprung and parted, breaking the jaw of one and the arm of the other. After suing Captain Joe Elliott for damages, and having it before the courts ever since, a jury decided in favor of Elliott before Judge Halsey, the other day, as to one of the parties. In the case of the other there was a mistrial, one of the jurors sticking out for damages against the other eleven, who desired to render a verdict fot Captain Elliott.

FRIDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—The Ashland, for Pittsburgh, departed with a moderately fair trip, including 18 hhds. sugar, 31 bbls. molasses, 328 bdls. cotton ties, 550 sacks corn, 300 bags shorts and bran, a lot of furniture, 150 bbls. flour, and has engagements for pig iron at Ironton. George Hughes and March. Hays are her pilots.... Wharfage receipts for the past week, at Cincinnati, ending last night, amounted to $318.65. The following are the charges, as per wharfage ordinance: Boat 24 hours, $5; 3 cents per ton for nine days, and after nine days 2 cents per ton per day....Colonel Wm. E. Merrill tells Captain Ford the obstructions at Raccoon Strait Riffle, Greene Bottom, Quick's Run and Brush Creek will be removed next year by the dredge boat fleet. This was asked for by petition by leading captains and pilots on the river.

THE new law respecting the practical testing of iron and steel used in the manufacture of boilers is to be put in force at the beginning of July. The tests are to be made by the local inspectors of steamboats, under the supervision of the Inspector General. For this purpose a number of testing machines are being finished, one of which is to be sent to every steamboat inspection district. Manufacturers of these articles are to send samples to the local inspectors, bearing the mark of the manufacturers showing the grade of his own test. The local inspectors will then see if the stamp agrees with the Government test and make whatever correction is found necessary. When the tests are completed, a report will be drawn up by the Board of Inspectors of Steamboats, and submitted to the proper authorities. The object of the examination is to establish a greater safeguard in regard to the use of boiler iron and ascertain the exact pressure of steam each class of iron or steel can bear, so as to prevent continual boiler disasters.

DAILY GAZETTE.

Circulation, 15,800.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

The current issue of the WEEKLY GAZETTE is for sale on our counter to-day. It contains a complete resume of local and general news, telegraphic intelligence from every part of the world, commercial, financial, oil and cattle market reports, and editorials on all the leading topics of the day; altogether, thirty-six columns of choice reading matter, embracing subjects of interest to the lawyer, the doctor, the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, and the family. The reputation of the GAZETTE is so thoroughly established, especially in the correctness of its commercial and market reports, that it has gained a circulation

The Largest in Western Pennsylvania.

It is, at the same time, the cheapest in the list of weeklies of its grade. The subscription and club rates are as follows:

TERMS—Single copy, $1.75; clubs of five, $1.50; clubs of ten, 1.40; this includes postage paid by the publishers. A copy of the WEEKLY GAZETTE will be sent free to the party who acts as agent, for every ten numbers paid for.

Its especial merits are:

It contains the Latest News from all parts of the World.

Its Market Reports are prepared especially and exclusively for this journal, and are the only reliable ones published in Pittsburgh.

It is especially adapted for the Farmer, Mechanic, Merchant and general Family use.

The large circulation of the GAZETTE is attributable to the recognition of its merits, and not to the efforts of canvassers who make a business of securing names on a percentage. Postmasters at many points have acted for us, and these alone are our accredited agents. All desirous of receiving the best Weekly published in Pittsburgh should subscribe at once.

HOME NEWS.

The Gazette for the Summer.

Persons leaving the city for the summer can have the Daily GAZETTE sent to them by mail, by leaving their orders at the counting-room.

The 23d Regiment.

Another meeting of the surviving members of the 123d Regiment was held last evening at the Allegheny City building. The Secretary being absent, Mr. W. H. Lockhart was elected to fill the office during the evening. The Committee on Permanent Organization submitted their report, which has already been published. The report was adopted, and on motion the officers elected are to be notified of their election. Adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

Lay Aside the Belts.

Some months ago Mayor Phillips issued an order to his police force that each officer must wear his belt and mace upon the outside of his coat. At that time the officers had no particular objection to wearing the belts as ordered, but since the warm weather has set in they have found that having to wear their coats buttoned and their belts tightly buckled, was anything but pleasant. Mayor Phillips yesterday issued an order that all the officers could dispense with the wearing of their belts during the warm weather. The order was hailed with delight by the officers and the belts were laid away. The members of the day force are now having blouses made.

Soho School Entertainment.

Yesterday the pupils and teachers at Soho school, under the supervision of Prof. Andrews, gave a satisfactory exhibition and enjoyable entertainment to their friends. The scholars, whose exercises were mostly reading and singing, acquitted themselves with credit, the class reading being especially good. Interesting addresses were attentively listened to, which were delivered by Revs. Sand, McGuire and Colhour; also Dr. Christy and Messrs. Luckey, Aufderheide, Holmes, Scott, Rier and Wilson. After this the guests were invited to another room, where their heated bodies were refreshed with lemonade, ice cream and cake, besides more substantial nourishment. Toasts and speeches concluded a day of festivity and enjoyment.

SUNSTROKE.

Death of a Little Boy.

On Thursday, about one o'clock, a boy named Brown, who resides on Preble avenue, Ninth ward, was overcome with the intense heat while walking along the street. He was conveyed to his home and medical aid summoned, but notwithstanding every effort was made to save him, he expired early yesterday morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House — Bryant's Minstrel Troupe.

The concluding performances of this troupe will be given in the Opera House this afternoon and evening, and judging from the character of the programme to be presented, will be of an entertaining character. The success of last night's entertainment was all that could be desired, and its attractive features as attested by a large and appreciative audience, was a fitting compliment to recognized ability of the different minstrels in their specialties. The programme for this afternoon and evening will be, for the most part, a repetition of that of last night, with a few new features added, which will add to its attractiveness. The full troupe of twenty-six performers will appear on both occasions.

On Friday night, July 2nd Duprez and Benedict's Minstrels will commence an engagement for four nights at the Opera House. This troupe visited this city only recently, and the enthusiasm with which it has been greeted in playing to crowded houses, is well known by those who have had the pleasure of hearing them.

THE HARTMAN INVESTIGATON.

The Prosecution Falls Through—The Committee to Report the Charges Not Sustained.

Another meeting of the committee of Allegheny Select Council, appointed to investigate the charges preferred against Chas. Hartman, a member of Select Council, was held last evening.

Mr. Fetterman, the attorney for the prosecution, proceeded to address the committee. He said that he did not consider it necessary to call any more witnesses. All the evidence so far adduced was not sufficiently strong to sustain the charge that Mr. Hartman had any interest whatever in the contract for improving McClure avenue or any of the other streets, but he considered Mr. Eckert was justified in preferring these charges on account of the many rumors in regard to the matter. As to the charge that Mr. Hartman was an alien, he believed it could not be sustained and it was therefore abandoned.

Mr. Geyer, the attorney for Mr. Hartman, addressed the committee on behalf of his client, after which the room was cleared and the committee agreed to report to Council that none of the charges preferred against Mr. Hartman had been sustained.

FAMILY REUNION.

A Large Number of Relatives Come Together—A Pleasant Occasion.

A reunion of the family of the late Peter Hickman was held at the old homestead which is now occupied by John Hickman, in South Fayette township, last Thursday. At nine o'clock the relatives began to assemble, and continued coming in until about noon. As soon as all had arrived a procession was formed, headed by Joseph Hickman, the oldest son of the deceased, which marched to the barn where a sumptuous feast was in waiting. The first table was surrounded by one hundred and thirty-two of the family connections, and the second by about twenty-five, who partook of the edibles prepared for the occasion. After dinner the crowd adjourned to a grove near by and Mr. John Hickman was called to preside over the exercises. Hugh Morgan and John Sawders acted as Secretaries. The services were opened with a prayer by Rev. Mr. Cornelius of the Oakdale Presbyterian church, after which a history of the family connections of Peter Hickman was given by his son John. The speaker said his grandfather came from Germany to this country in 1773 and settled in Maryland. Peter Hickman came to Allegheny county and took up his abode in South Fayette township at a very early age. In the year 1797 he was married to Miss Fawcett, after which he built a "shanty" on the old homestead in which they lived for a number of years.

They raised a family of ten children, seven of whom are still living, and were present. The speaker said if his father was living he would have forty-eight grandchildren, sixty-three great grand children and three great great-grand-children with him at the re-union. A number of interesting incidents in connection with the early days of the family were related and richly enjoyed. At the conclusion of Mr. Hickman's speech, the Rev. Mr. Cornelius made a few remarks in which he congratulated the friends on the ground, that though their numbers were great, there was not a "black sheep" among them. He spoke for some little time, and his address being full of humor, added greatly to the interest of the occasion.

Taken altogether, the re-union was one long to be remembered by those who participated in the exercises. Just before adjourning the entire crowd marched in a body to "Hickman's Hill," the highest point in Allegheny county, from which point they dispersed for their several homes.

THE Rev. Dr. Howard will deliver the last, for the present, of the series of lectures on Pilgrim's Progress to-morrow evening in the Second Presbyterian Church at 7:45. The subject will be "The last three Scenes in the House of the Interpreter." In the morning at 10:30 he will preach on "Saul, the First King of Israel."

THE trustees of the Loyalhanna camp ground, near Latrobe, held a meeting June 11th, and fixed upon Wednesday, August 25th, to commence the camp meeting this year, and from all the information received by those present and through others, the meeting promises to be more largely attended than last season. The addition of another circle enables the trustees to offer lots at four dollars each. The grove proper, thirteen and a half acres, is enclosed with a tight fence eight feet high. It was determined by the trustees to make further improvements, among which they propose to erect two large two-story houses to accommodate boarders, and to sink additional wells. In the Spring considerable work was done, and the ground is now in excellent condition. Information in relation to leasing lots, &c., can be obtained by application to the President, Colonel Cooper, of Coopersdale, or to Mr. I. D. Pores, of Latrobe, the Secretary, or to Rev. Dr. A. J. Endsley, Presiding Elder, of Johnstown, Penna.

"CHILDREN'S DAY," at the First M. E. church, last Sabbath, was an attractive and interesting event. The church was decorated with flowers in abundance, and arranged with great taste and beauty. Two handsome aquariums, with the golden fish flashing in the sunlight, added to the beauty of the display. A new feature was the presence of some canary birds, that made the rooms vocal with their songs. The exercises were conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Smith, assisted by an address by Mr. Jackson, and singing by the choir, and a fine solo by Mr. James Tonner. A large body of children occupied the center of the room. The ladies are entitled to great credit for the taste of the floral display, got up on very short notice. In every respect "Children's Day" was a success.—Canton Repository.

THE congregation connected with the Evangelical Association church, on Fulton street, have completed arrangements for the erection of the second story of their present structure. As the membership wish to avoid incurring a heavy debt, the building will not be finished until some future time, and services will still be held in the first story. The present improvement will cost about seven thousand dollars, and when completed, the edifice will present a very neat and attractive appearance. The church is in a flourishing condition under its faithful pastor, the Rev. L. M. Boyer, and large accessions have been made during his ministry, which has extended a period of a little over a year. The prospects are that the church with some foreign help will be able in a short time to wipe off its new debt, and when this is consummated the building will be entirely completed.

WHEN the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh was organized in November, 1865, there were 29 clergymen canonically connected with it, and 28 parishes in union with the Convention. The Diocese now has 54 clergymen, 57 parishes, and 16 missions. In 1865 there were employed only 6 missionaries in the district comprising 10,212 square miles, and 812,757 inhabitants. Now there are 22 missionaries actively employed, in an increased population of 1,004,085. The whole amount contributed to mission work in 1865 was $845.98. The last annual amount for Diocesan Missions was $5,894.71. In 1865 there were 2,132 communicants in the district. They now number 4,500. It will be seen that there has been a gain of nearly 100 per cent. in clergy, over that in parishes, the number of Missionaries increased nearly four-fold, the annual contributions to Diocesan Missions very nearly seven times as great, and in the number of communicants a gain of over 100 per cent.

Common Pleas Court No. 2.

(Before Judges Ewing, White and Kirkpatrick.)

In the matter of the Sawmill Valley Plank Road Company vs. the City of Allegheny et al., a preliminary injunction was granted by the Court yesterday, the complainants to give bond in the sum of one thousand dollars, to be approved by the Court.

W. W. Noble was appointed District Assessor for the First precinct of Shaler township.

Criminal Court.

(Before Judge Sterrett.)

In the case of Mary Woods alias Jennie Thompson, indicted for larceny and receiving stolen goods, on oath of Barbara Garbach, the defendant was found guilty of larceny, and recommended to the mercy of the Court.

Albert Stehle was fined $100 and costs for selling liquor without a license. John O'Neill was the prosecutor.

A nolle pros was allowed on the payment of costs by the prosecutor in the case of E. W. Merriman, indicted for assault and battery on the oath of James T. Sample.

William Gallagher was acquitted of a charge of assault and battery preferred by Bridget Reilly.

Elizabeth McCallister plead nolle contendere to a charge of adultery, on oath of Sidney McCallister.

Frank Gentt was sentenced to imprisonment in jail for a period of three months for entering a building with intent to commit a felony, Wm. McCutcheon was the prosecutor.

William Rogers was fined $500, and was sentenced to the Work House for one year, he having been convicted of adultery, on the oath of Sidney McCallister.

Albert Stehle, who plead nolle contendere to selling liquor on Sunday, was fined $100 and costs.

In the case of William Robinson, alias William Weaver, and John Breen, indicted for larceny and receiving stolen goods, the former plead guilty to the first count, and the latter was convicted as to the second.

Joseph Lofink, Jr., was fined $50 and costs for selling liquor on election day. Amanda Vill was the prosecutor.

In the case of James Clark and William Early, indicted for robbery, on the oath of John Melrose, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Equity Proceedings.

A bill in equity was filed in the Common Pleas Court No. 2 yesterday by Thomas E. Keese et al. vs. The South Side Cemetery Company et al. The orators say that Geo. Faller, late of the city of Pittsburgh, died September 2, 1873; that in accordance with his request his remains were interred in the Troy Hill Cemetery and a tombstone erected at the head of his grave; that on or about May 7, 1875, a number of the respondents removed said body to the South Side Cemetery without the knowledge or consent of the plaintiffs. They therefore ask the Court to order that it may be returned to its origional place of burial and that the grave may be placed in as respectable condition as it was before the said removal.

Equity proceedings were instituted in the same court yesterday, by Utillis Baird vs. Isaac Taylor. The complainant alleges that both he and the respondent are owners of two contiguous lots of ground at the northeast corner of Federal street and North avenue, Allegheny; that in the years 1871 and 1872, a brick building, four stories high, was erected on defendant's lot, occupying the whole of it, and although the foundation of the building is on the line of the defendant's lot, yet the east wall of the super-structure throughout its entire length, is out of plumb and encroaches upon and overhangs the lot of complaint; that the wall projects fom four to five inches at different points along the line of the lot. The orator further says that he gave the defendant due notice in writing last September, and repeated the notice in April following to remove the wall; that he has made arrangements to build on his lot and that the contractor has actually begun work on a house, which cannot be completed until said wall is removed. Setting forth that he will sustain irreparable injury unless the court grants him relief, and that there is no remedy at law for the abatement of the alleged nuisance, he asks that the court direct the removal of the wall, and that a reasonable compensation may be decreed to him for all damage suffered by reason of the premises.

Speedy Punishment.

On Tuesday night last about twelve o'clock John Melrose was knocked down and robbed of a silver watch, a considerable sum of money and a check, on the railroad bridge over the Allegheny river. On Wednesday morning James Clark and William Early were arrested and taken before Deputy Mayor Butler on a charge of having committed the robbery and that official committed the defendants for trial at Court. On Thursday the Grand Jury found a true bill against them, as charged, and yesterday their case was tried in the Criminal Court and they were both convicted. It is probable they will be sentenced to-day.

Faultless.

Man's incompetency has given rise to the expression that "there's nothing perfect." And while this may apply with much force to many departments of life, yet there are some who, having a natural aptitude for their trade or profession, become so expert under the tutorship of the schoolmaster, Experience, as to produce articles of extreme excellence, if not perfection. We have been led to these thoughts by seeing a gentleman wearing a suit which was positively faultless in fit and as perfectly neat as is possible for human ingenuity and skill to produce. This suit was manufactured by T. Scandrett & Co., No. 225 Liberty street, and our wonder on seeing it was, why does not every man of neatness and taste have his dress suits made to order by Scandrett & Co.

As Cheap as Dirt.

This was the expression of a gentleman who yesterday purchased a pair of summer Cassimere Pants at the Boston Clothing House, No. 95 Smithfield street. We were loth to believe him, yet an examination of the goods proved beyond a doubt that he was right, that they were really dirt cheap, and we wondered how goods of such a quality could be manufactured for the low price of Three Dollars. They were almost equal in value to a ten dollar pair of custom made.

THE JUVENILES' GALA DAY.

The Out Pouring of Children Yesterday Evening in the Allegheny Parks—The Jubilee a Success Numerically and Otherwise—Over Twelve Thousand Persons Present.

The third annual jubilee of the school children of Allegheny city yesterday evening, in the public parks was, by all odds the most successful of any that has yet been held. The juveniles are not the only ones who take an interest in these yearly jollifications, for the very large number of adults present indicated that they also like to be considered in, and love to witness the young "gamboling on the green." The combination of all ages made the numerical display one of the grandest ever witnessed, and the jubilee was pronounced by all to be an eminent success. During the greater part of the afternoon the weather was rather too warm for comfort, but shortly before five o'clock the sky became clouded, obscuring the rays of the sun, and a refreshing breeze from the West springing up, the heat was considerably moderated, thereby making the occasion more enjoyable. The symptoms of a shower induced many to leave, but nothing short of a downright rain pour could have obliged the children to depart. They were there for their annual romp and were not to be frightened out of it by a dim prospect of a wetting. By half past four o'clock the schools were all at their designated stations on the outskirts of the park, and simultaneously with the firing of a gun from Monument Hill they commenced marching, and proceeded to the plots of ground marked out for them, where they remained in line for some time expecting to be called upon to take part in a grand parade which the committee in charge had hoped to consummate, but the large crowd of people on hand prevented the carrying out of that part of the programme, so the various schools were dispersed, and the pupils at once set about enjoying themselves. The detachments of children marching into the park from all quarters made a picture, the beauty of which was highly admired by all who were in a position to see it. The scholars of the different wards were distinguished, some by badges bearing the number of the wards, and others by scarfs, &c. All the schools carried flags and banners, and the marching was quite creditable. There was plenty of water for everybody, the committee having located barrels of it at convenient points throughout the grounds.

Music was discoursed by five bands, the Great Western occupying the knoll near the Humboldt monument, and the St. Cecelia being situated near the bridge crossing the railroad track. The Union Cornet band was southeast of the Great Western, the Keystone east of it and the St. Bridget's west. They performed alternately, and at the conclusion of the jubilee the bands consolidated and played "Home, Sweet Home." The play the children enjoyed most was "Copenhagen," the chief feature of which is of an osculatory character. They entered into the game with a spirit and energy that showed their appreciation of its merits, and in several instance were assisted by gray haired paternal parents, in whom the pastime revived memories of youthful days.

The following is pretty accurate estimate of the number of school children present:

First ward	500
Second ward	1,400
Third ward	1,400
Fourth ward	1,100
Fifth ward	900
Sixth ward	1,000
Seventh ward, Eighth ward, Ninth ward, Tenth ward, Eleventh ward	800
Colored school	100
Total	7,200

Add to the total the number of youngsters who were not in the ranks, the visiting children from Pittsburgh and the adults, and the aggregate will reach twelve or fifteen thousand. This is not at all an overestimate and will convey a fair idea of how fine the display was. To the Citizen's Committee, who kindly furnished the bands, to Knapp's battery, for the salutes fired by it from Monument Hill, and to Mayor Phillips for the efficient assistance of his police, the committee in charge acknowledges its obligations and trusts that the happiness and pleasure which their liberality secured to the little ones particularly may prove a sufficient reward.

The teachers and pupils of the Mt. Washington public school held a picnic yesterday in Wilberts Grove, and had a pleasant time. Five hundred children were there with the Birmingham Cornet Band. The schools of the Bedford and Birmingham districts, South Side, also consolidated yesterday, and went picnicing to Howard station, on the P. V. & C. R. R.

THE HEALTH BOARD.

Matters Before It Last Night.

The Board of Health met last night and Mr. L. Berkowitz appeared before it and stated his intention to erect a slaughter house on the property of the Linden Land Company, on Four Mile Run, in the Fourteenth ward. He desired the advice of the Board as to what sanitary precautions he should take, such as the construction of sewers, &c., in order to insure compliance with the law. A committee was appointed to visit and examine the place.

Dr. Arthurs submitted the report of the committee appointed to investigate the charges made by Alderman Krehan against the Inspectors on the South Side, that they received ten per cent. for every job procured the night soilers. The committee reported that the charges were not sustained, but recommended that the Inspectors be instructed to attend more strictly to their business hereafter, so as to give no occasion for a repetition of the charges. The recommendation was objected to as an unnecessary censure upon the Inspectors, but the report was received and no action taken upon it.

Mr. Slagle, from the committee appointed to examine the alleged nuisances at the Point, stated that they had made an inspection and found the dump boat clean and in good order, but that nuisances which were almost unavoidable existed. The committee was continued and directed to confer with the Wharf Committee with the object of seeing what can be done toward perfecting or bettering the sanitary condition of that district.

The Board then adjourned.

R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Your Favorite Prescription has done my wife a world of good. She has taken nearly two bottles and has felt better the past two weeks than at any time in the past two years. No more periodical pains; none of that aching back or dragging sensation in her stomach she has been accustomed to for several years. I have so much confidence in it that I would be perfectly willing to warrant to certain customers of our who would be glad to get hold of relief at any expense. I have tried many Patent Medicines, but never had any occasion to extol one before. Very truly yours,

GEO. B. WHITING.

Mrs. E. R. Daly, Metropolis, Ill., writes: "Dr. R. V. Pierce—My sister is using the Favorite Prescription with great benefit."

Mary Ann Frisbie, Lehman, Pa., writes: "Dr. R. V. Pierce—What I have taken of your medicine has been of more benefit to me than all others and hundreds of doctors' bills."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Streets, City Assessments, City Property and Gas.

The Street Committee held a regular meeting last night in the Common Council chamber, at which Mr. S. P. Fulton, who has for two years been the efficient chairman of the committee, tendered his resignation. In view of the fact that Mr. Fulton intends resigning his seat in Councils his resignation was accepted, and complimentary remarks concerning his long service in connection with the committee were made by Clerk Booth and others, and responded to by Mr. Fulton. Mr. Thompson was then elected to fill the vacancy.

The first business transacted was the recommendation to Councils for the passage of an ordinance for the vacation of Clifton street, South Side, between Nineteenth and Twenty-second streets.

The sub-committee on the proposed change in the Thirty-third street bridge, submitted its report, stating that the railroad company refused to make any change and submitting a letter from Mr. Cassatt, one of the Vice Presidents, who wrote that the company did not feel under any obligations to make the change. The report was received and the committee discharged.

The sub-committee on the condition of South Side streets reported in favor of replacing the board walks on the Birmingham road and Monastery avenue, Twenty-seventh ward, and in favor of box drains on Allen and Maple avenues and steps from Brownsville avenue to East street. The report was adopted and the Street Commissioner instructed to carry out its recommendations.

Mr. Metzger called up the ordinance defining the approaches to the Thirty-third street bridge and moved that it be negatively recommended, in order to allow the approaches to be either a fill or bridge as may be most expedient. The motion was lost and the bill was affirmatively recommended.

Ordinances were ordered for the repeal of an ordinance for the opening of Pike street, and for the grading of Main street. A committee of three was appointed to examine the roads in the Seventh district and another was appointed to inspect the Dinwiddie street sewer. The adverse report of the committee on the proposed change of grade of Forbes street was received and the committee adjourned.

CITY ASSESSMENTS.

The Committee on Appeals from City Assessments met last night and allowed the following abatements: A. B. Boal, $2,000; George Finley, $25,000; Robert Stewart, $1,000; W. F. Anll, $3,400; H. W. Ritchie, $1,000; M. Grotsch, $8,000; R. Grierson, $5,400. The appeals of Alex. and Thomas Jones were dismissed, and Samuel Leeds and S. Davidson postponed. The tax on the house of A. M. E. Mengins, which was burned down, was ordered to be refunded. The balance of the appeals were referred to a sub-committee.

CITY PROPERTY.

At a meeting of the City Property Committee last night a sub-committee was appointed to take charge of the property at the Point belonging to the city. Mr. Braun reported that the sidewalks in front of Snyder square, on Penn avenue, and the market lot on Forbes street were unpaved and that the citizens were complaining about it. Messrs. Kerr, Connolly and Braun were appointed to take charge of all unimproved property. The request of the Chief of Police for a closet in which to place stolen property was referred to the City Hall Commission.

GAS LAMPS.

The Gas Lighting Committee met yesterday afternoon and ordered one gas lamp for Fortieth street and Locust alley, two on Marion street, four on Forty-fourth, between Davidson and Butler streets, four on Anderson avenue, one on Sheridan avenue, one at William and Ninth streets, four on Sarah street, two on Pius street, and one on Webster avenue.

Health is Capital.

Who can doubt it? Do we not every day see the vigorous and clear headed pushing on to fortune, and the feeble and brain-befogged tarrying by the way? Health gives energy, vim. What a healthy mind conceives, a healthy body is prompt to execute. Difficulties which deter the invalid altogether, the vigorous man surmounts at a bound. If we would be successful, let us first be healthy. The initial step to be taken toward arriving at that condition, is to rally the failing energies of the system. As a renovant of decaying vital power, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be justly recommended in preference to all other tonics, since its superiority as an invigorant is the subject of daily demonstration. But it is far more than a simple recuperant of physical strength; it is a prompt remedy for bodily irregularities, particularly of the stomach, bowels and liver, and a reliable preventive of maladies begotten of miasma, impure water, exposure and exhaustion, the bad effects of which it invariably counteracts.

WHAT IS VEGETINE?

It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers; for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, D. D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be deemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of VEGETINE in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounces it invaluable:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 TRANSIT STREET.
H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. Best, pastor of the M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians; also, those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the son of the Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, as there is no doubt about the curative powers of VEGETINE.

NATICK, MASS., January 1, 1873.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your VEGETINE a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him VEGETINE, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed studies, thrown away his crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge from the opening where his limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

He has taken about three dozen bottles of VEGETINE, but lately uses but little, as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine.

Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST,
MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

A Colored Man in Possession of About $2,200 in Drafts—The Bank Officers in a Quandary as to how He Got Them.

Yesterday morning shortly after nine o'clock a colored man who gave his name as James Snyder, and said he lived in Manchester, appeared at the Second National Bank of Allegheny and presented about $2,200 in drafts issued by the bank on the Central Bank of New York. On handing over the paper, he stated that he had received it from a colored man by the name of Jordan in Harrisburg, and thought he ought to be paid for his time and trouble in coming all the way to Allegheny to restore the property to the bank. The drafts were made payable to the order of the cashier of the Central Bank of New York, and of course were not negotiable without the endorsement of that official, and hence were worthless in the hands of any other party. Snyder was told to call around in the afternoon, and in the meantime arrangements were made to have an officer present on his return so that he might be arrested. This was done, and when he appeared the second time at the banking house he was taken into custody. On being conveyed to the lockup he told a second story in which he avered that he got the drafts from a man in this city who told him that he took them from a letter which he found lodged in the entrance of one of the Allegheny letter boxes. The bank officials thinking this story rather doubtful, began to get their heads together for the purpose of effecting a solution of the problem. A few days ago the regular janitor of the bank was ill, and being unable to attend to his duties, he secured the services of another man, during the time he was confined to his house. It was thought that this janitor No. 2 had appropriated the drafts to his own use and had subsequently handed them over to Snyder. Hearing that he belonged to one of the bands in attendance at the childrens' jubilee at the parks, an officer was dispatched to effect his arrest. He was taken to the lock-up, but Snyder said he was not the party from whom he obtained the drafts, so he was released without being any the wiser as to what he was arrested for. Thus the matter stands with Snyder locked up and no definite information showing how he came in possession of the drafts. The officers are after one or two other parties who are suspected of knowing something about the matter, and they will likely be captured to-day.

PIC-NIC GROVE,
HULTON STATION, A. V. R. R. This Grove is one of the largest in Allegheny county, located at Hulton Station, on the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, only ten miles from the Union Depot, a sufficient distance to avoid the annoyance of disorderly characters who frequently disturb picnic parties at groves near the city. It is a cool and secluded place, thickly covered with beautiful shade-trees, having one of the largest and most convenient platforms for dancing in the country, and all other necessary buildings. Good cool water. Dinners furnished at reasonable rates at the Grove. A beautiful drive to this Grove, the roads being always in a splendid condition. This Grove will be rented to lodges, literary societies, military organizations, socials, clubs, churches, Sunday schools, &c. Strangers renting will be required to furnish references. The A. V. R. R. has a double track to Hulton and runs ten daily trains, under careful management, all stopping at the Grove. For terms and full particulars, inquire of WEDDELL & HOLMES, 347 Liberty street, or G. W. NICHOLS, 4025 Butler street.
